EXHIBITS FROM 143 COUNTIES IN PLACE AT 1914 CORN SHOW

Exhibits by Boys and by Girls' Canning Clubs Far Exceed Those of Any Preceding Event in Georgia.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM AWAITS ALL VISITORS

The Opening on Tuesday Was Auspicious Occasion. Hundreds Pour Into Atlanta, But Majority of the Members Expected Today.

If enthusiasm and hard work count for anything in this world's endeavors, it takes no prophet nor son of a prophet, when he has seen the corn show which opened at the state capitol on Tuesday, to predict the day is not far distant when some of the big corn producing states of the middle west may well look to their laurels.

When the doors of the capitol were thrown open to the public on Tuesday for the 1914 annual corn show of the Boys' Corn clubs of Georgia, exhibits were in place from 143 counties, representing the best efforts of some 10,000 or Georgia's boy farmers. And all that is to my nothing of the shining rows of appetizing preserves and canned vegetables of some 3,000 members of the Girls' Canning clubs of Georgia.

The exhibit this year is much larger than the exhibit of last year and shows some wonderful products. The lobbies of the first floor of the capitol are filled with long rows of white and golden corn of all varieties. The size and perfection of the ears of some of the exhibits is very remarkable indeed.

Girls' Canning Clubs Exhibits.

The exhibits of the Girls' Canning clubs occupies the rotunda. To gaze upon the beautiffl glasses of preserved peaches, cherries, figs, pears and all manner of fruits makes one long for a hot biscuit with no one around to disturb his activities.

Considerable rivalry is demonstrated between the clubs of the various counties in displaying their exhibits in attractive and unique manner.

An exhibit which immediately commands the attention in the lobby is that of Newton county, which consists of an enormous ferris wheel, decorated in American and Confederate flags. The carriages of the wheel are baskets of the finest corn the corn clubs of Newton county have produced. The wheel is kept turning all day long by an electric motor, and Newton county is receiving ample praise from all visitors for its enterprise.

Corn and canning clubs exhibits, however, do not constitute the entire show. There are many exhibits of diversification of crops. Many of the coming generation of farmers are learning the trick which their fathers have talked a lifetime and have never done. They are diversifying their fields. In some instances boys have raised three different crops on the same ground in the same year, planting oats in the early spring, following this crop by peavine hay, and following the hay crop with either corn or cotton. There are a number of exhibits showing the three crops grown on the same ground.

Exhibit by Pig Clubs.

In another part of the lobby one finds a stand of fine hams and sides of bacon raised by the members of the Pig clubs. Such rare specimens are some of these exhibits. Some of these, on Tuesday, several offers to buy the exhibits, but they are not for sale.

An exhibit which is the center of attraction for large numbers interested in corn is "the thousand dollar ear" of corn. This large and perfect ear—said to be the largest perfect ear ever grown—is exhibited just outside the door of the governor's waiting room. It is in a small glass case, which may be handled and closely examined. Beside it is the enormous Kellogg trophy which was awarded for the ear. This trophy cost $1,000 and from that the ear of corn derives its title of the thousand dollar ear." This ear was raised by Fred C. Palin, of Newton, Ind., in 1909.

Besides these interesting features there are on exhibit all manner of agricultural implements, which will be given away as prizes to the boys producing the prize-winning exhibits.

There was an exceptionally large crowd of visitors to the show on Tuesday for the first day.

Many Arrive Later.

While the majority of the thousands of boys and girls who are coming to Atlanta for the show will not begin to arrive until Wednesday, a host came in Tuesday afternoon and were assigned to homes in the city.

In addition to the many details that the management at the chamber of commerce have worked out for the entertainment of the corn clubs during their visit to the city this week, their safety and convenience has not been overlooked. Each boy will be given a printed card containing blanks for the boy's name and address, and given also telephone numbers of places they may call when in need of information.

The general plan of the week's events printed on the card are as follows:

Wednesday night, Decembr 2, at the Chamber of Commerce building, at North Pryor street and Auburn avenue, at 7:30 o'clock, there will be a special moving picture show for the corn club boys.

At this meeting there will be a number of addresses by the following speakers: J. D. Price, state commissioner of agriculture; O. B. Martin, of Washington, D. C., in charge of the corn club work for the federal department of agriculture; J. Dewey Long, state agent for the pig clubs; Dr. A. M. Hirleman, of Athens, Ga., in charge of the work of eradication of hog cholera; G. W. Taylor, of the State College of Agriculture at Athens, will have charge of the moving pictures.

Governor Will Speak.

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the hall of the house of representa-

A Bond Issue of $4,100,000 Is Plan of Sub-Committee to Care For Schools and Other Needs

Committee Recommends That $1,500,000 of This Amount Be Spent for New School Buildings for Both White and Black.

NUTTING SAYS ISSUE SHOULD BE $3,500,000

Police, Fire, Park and Waterworks Departments All Put in Liberal Estimates of Their Needs for Improvement of Service.

Ambitious plans for the rehabilitation of the entire public school system of Atlanta, and the expansion of every other department of the city government, were adopted Tuesday afternoon when the sub-committee of the bond issue committee agreed to a tentative report which comprehends the issuance of $4,100,000 in bonds for all purposes.

Imperative needs of the school system were given a thorough airing by the committee, and in its report to the general committee it will recommend that the schools' share of the bond issue be $1,500,000.

Included in the school apportionment of the proposed bond money is an item of $890,000 for four new high school buildings, $560,000 for white grammar schools, of which seven are to be new primary schools of four grades each, to cost $105,000, and $140,000 for new negro schools.

The $1,500,000 includes all new buildings and equipment.

The general committee will meet on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock to receive the report of the sub-committee.

May Be Pruned.

It is not regarded as likely that the general committee will accept the report as it stands.

Members of both the sub-committee and the general committee believe that the entire bond issue should be kept within $3,500,000, and it is possible that demands of some of the departments will be pruned further until the minimum is reached.

Alderman James R. Nutting, chairman of the sub-committee, wants the issue kept as close to the $3,500,000 mark as possible. Like a majority of the most conservative members of council, Alderman Nutting does not care to take a chance by overloading the issue and risking defeat of the entire project, schools included, by stirring up prejudice against the entire issue.

"I don't think there is any doubt of the people supporting an issue of $3,500,000 for all purposes, including schools," said he, "but I do fear that if we attempt to load too much on we are going to be stalled. We have got to be absolutely square with every voter in the city on this issue if we expect success."

If the general committee adopts the tentative report of its sub-committee, Alderman Nutting and other leaders in the bond issue campaign in council will immediately have City Attorney James L. Mayson draw up the proper ordinance to authorize a bond election.

Special Registration Necessary.

Thirty days must elapse from the day the city first advertises its proposal to issue bonds before an election can be held. This requirement will throw the election into the new year and will necessitate a special registration.

Enthusiasm ran high among bond issue advocates Tuesday afternoon following the important developments during the meeting of the subcommittee, particularly because of the fact that prospects now loom bright for an early expression from the people.

The entire bond issue will include the following projects:

Sewers and disposal plants, $1,000,000; waterworks (not including pipe), $750,000; Grady hospital, $250,000; fire department (no motorless apparatus), $250,000; parks (for a new cyclorama building only), $75,000; police, $100,000; schools, $1,500,000, and municipal warehouse, $75,000.

In the original estimate of the needs of the school department, Alderman Armistead, chairman of the school committee, included an item of $60,000 for a school building and lot for the Ansley Park neighborhood, also an item for $40,000 for a school building on the lot recently purchased by the Parade and Pageant Promises to Be One of the Most Brilliant Ever Held in Atlanta—Mardi Gras.

BOXES FOR CARNIVAL BALL.

Boxes at the rate of $1 a seat may be obtained from J. H. Lewis, chairman of the ball committee, at room 1216 Fourth National Bank building.

They must be taken Wednesday, otherwise it will be too late. Purchasers must take an entire box, containing four or six seats.

Box seats have already been taken by some of the most prominent social leaders in Atlanta. They are open to public subscription, and Mr. Lewis announces "first come, first served."

The candidates for queen of the Hop and Homing carnival next Thursday, their maids of honor and gentlemen-in-waiting rehearsed the coronation scene Tuesday night in the Auditorium. Mrs. William Lawson Peel, who has consented to act as chaperon at the ball, directed the rehearsal. Mrs. Peel is responsible for the coronation festivities.

The debutantes in the race for queenly honors went through their royal stunts in a manner befitting regal personalities. It was the first time the entire court had met together, and the rehearsal went through without a hitch. The coronation scene will be one of splendor. As arranged by Mrs. Peel, the grand march to the throne will be led by the grand chamberlain and the queen dowager.

Next will come King Lindsey Hopkins and the queen, to be followed by a distinguished company of twenty-two maids of honor and as many gentlemen-in-waiting. All will be arrayed in royal robes, and the scene will be one of spectacular beauty. When the court has proceeded to the stage, the official crowning will take place. Then the royal dancers will be summoned and commanded by her majesty to go through some of the old court dances and some of the more modern steps. Among these dances will be Miss Lucile Grogan and Captain Palmer, of Macon, who were the stars at the recent cotton ball given by Mr. Sell and Miss Moulton, of the Georgian Terrace, and Miss Hoover and Mr. Cook, of the Piedmont hotel. The ball will then be officially opened, and those in attendance will be invited to dance until the morning hours break over the assemblage.

Full Dress Not Necessary.

It was announced Tuesday that the carnival ball on Thursday evening will not be strictly a full dress affair. The committee would like as many persons as possible to come attired in masquerade costumes, but this is not obligatory. Business clothes will do. The Ad Men's club, which is forming the carnival, wants the general public there in great numbers, no matter what kind of a uniform they have on. The more the merrier. It's a public affair, although the social leaders of Atlanta will be there and in the receiving line on the dance floor. A number of them will assist Mrs. Peel by acting as patronesses. Every one who failed to get an invitation to the ball will be given a chance to get one. The committee's fault if every one in the ball doesn't have the time of his or her life.

But the supply of tickets to the ball is running low and the committee suggests that they get busy and buy them early as possible. Of course, there will be tickets sold at the door at the regulation price of $1 each, but these tickets do not include the gold button and vote for the queen, which are being offered now by almost every merchant in Atlanta. Voting for the queen closes officially Thursday at noon, and the identity will be made known in time for her to take part in the big street pageant in the afternoon.

A Splendid Parade.

Parade plans have been finished and the outlook is for a big-up celebration that promises to rival Mardi Gras. There will be floats galore and decorated autos by the score. The floats will number well into the thousands, representing every military, civic and fraternal organization as well as every business body in Atlanta; Corn show boys and girls, animals from the zoo, school children and college boys and girls and then some.

A big influx of out-of-town visitors is expected because of the low rates fixed by the railroads to obtain from now until December 6. They will be able to come Wednesday night, and sure, since the trip will afford them an excellent opportunity to do their Christmas shopping. Thursday night, a half holiday, the entire town will be decorated with bunting galore, and the streets will be filled with costumed maskers in fantastic array. Mayor Woodward has instructed his police to let the crowds go as far as they please, and old King Gloom will get the biggest cleaning up that day that he has ever had in his career. And more power to the joy spirits that plan to do the job.

The following merchants of East Point have agreed to close Thursday at noon to take in the Atlanta Hop and-Homing carnival: L. E. DeLoach, S. W. Hammond, J. Law Son, P. J. Hutchens, E. E. Little & Son, W. J. McKinney, C. G. L. Hutcheson and J. T. Spencer.

CLOSED BANKS STORMED BY ANGRY DEPOSITORS

New York, December 1.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today against Abraham L. Kass, a private banker with three offices in Brooklyn. His liabilities are placed at $1,000,000 and his assets at $760,000.

Angry depositors stormed Kass' three banks in force during the day. Kass was hooted and jeered as he entered one of the institutions under a strong police guard. He endeavored to calm the crowd by telling them that he would pay every penny of his debts, but his attempt proved a failure.

BEAVERS DENIES WAVE OF CRIME

Police Chief Says City Is as Well Protected as Ever, and Says Newspapers Are Against Him.

Police Chief James L. Beavers Tuesday assailed the Atlanta newspapers as trying to show him up unfairly to the public.

Chief Beavers had special reference to the stories published in the different Atlanta dailies within the last few days, and statements by Mayor Woodward, that Atlanta was seized by a wave of crime, and that the Atlanta police were at their wits' end to put a stop to the burglaries and hold-ups that have taken place within the city during the last few nights.

"The papers have not given me credit for any good work," said Chief Beavers, "and I am being handed a dirty deal again.

Says They Were Drinking.

"Saturday night, instead of there being a large number of hold-ups and robberies as published, there were only three. Two of the persons reporting that they had been held up and robbed were partly under the influence of whisky, and, of course, my men could place no reliance in their statements.

"Nothing was said about these men being drunk.

"There has been no crime wave to sweep over the city during the last few days. Things have been taking their usual course, and the routine work the police have each day to perform is being handled with dispatch."

Chief Beavers held a long conference with Judge George E. Johnson Tuesday afternoon, after Judge Johnson dismissed the recorder's court.

Following the conference, Judge Johnson was seen by a reporter. "Chief Beavers came to my office at police station," he said, "to discuss the question of bringing before city council through the police commissioners the matter of adding more policemen to the force.

"For over ten years, as every one knows, I have been trying to find some way to solve the problem of keeping down midnight and early morning burglaries and robberies.

Suggests Split Watch.

"I told Chief Beavers of my plan, to have a 'split watch,' composed of sixty plain clothes policemen, to go on duty at 10 o'clock at night, and work until 6 o'clock the next morning.

"I suggested that thirty of these plain clothes men be placed under a sergeant on the south side and thirty under another sergeant on the north side.

"This will give the police four watches instead of three, as at present, and will afford protection between the hours of 11:30 o'clock and 12:30 o'clock, when the policemen on the evening watch, who go off duty at 12 o'clock, and the policemen on the morning watch, who go on duty at 1 from the station house to their beats.

"Chief Beavers spoke favorably of my plan, and it will be brought to the attention of the police commissioners. The policemen are to be secured by employing thirty new men, taking the supernumeraries, and by taking thirty men from all the three watches."

Victim of Footpads Has Been Identified; Is Still Unconscious

The victim of Atlanta footpads, who was found unconscious at midnight Monday night at the corner of Victoria avenue and Gray street, was identified yesterday as Sam Caspogrina, of 129 West Cain street.

He was identified by C. Peppino, a cousin, who came to the Grady hospital and found his cousin missing Tuesday morning and called Peppino at account of the affair in The Constitution.

Peppino said that his cousin had over $300 on his person, as he had been saving up to return to Italy. He was paid off Saturday, Sunday, and Peppino states that he believes that some one discovered that he had the money on him and followed him to the spot, and there robbed him, leaving him unconscious.

Caspogna had not regained consciousness last night.

It was announced at Grady hospital early this morning that he would probably not live through the night. Ernest Wills, a negro who worked for him, is under arrest on the charge of suspicion.

STUCK IN THE MUD OFFICERS LOSE THIEF

Call Officers Long and Austin, when summoned to 428 West Hunter street, a grocery store, which neighbors reported to the police was being burglarized early Tuesday morning, were forced to return to police station empty-handed, although on arriving on the scene where the store was being burglarized, they had the opportunity of seeing the burglar emerge from the store.

Long and Austin started to jump off their motorcycles, thinking the burglar would dodge up an alley. The burglar, instead, "beat it" down the sidewalk. Then the officers pursued on their motorcycles, gaining every minute on the flying burglar, until unexpectedly their motorcycles, in the dark street, plunged into a mud hole and stuck fast.

The burglar escaped, and the officers spent several minutes getting their machines out of the mud and water, and getting their own and the clothes when they got back to the station house.

PICKPOCKETS TOUCH WM. HARLAND FOR $7

William Harland, of 66 Avon avenue, Tuesday morning reported having his pocket picked of $7 Monday night. Harland stated that he boarded an East Point car at Forsyth and Alabama streets, and when he went to pay his car fare, his purse with $7 was gone. He said he remembered being jostled when he boarded the crowded car, and believes it was then that he was robbed.

Steals Gold-Handled Parasol.

The home of Mrs. E. V. Shields, 10 Winter avenue, Oakhurst, was entered last night about 9 o'clock by a burglar, who carried off a gold-handled umbrella valued at $25, a suit of clothes and a silk muffler. Officers Gorman and Kirk are working on the case.

Stole Oranges and Apples.

John Peyton, a little negro boy, was found last night on Martin street with his knickerbocker trousers filled from the knee up with apples and oranges that he had stolen from a grocery store. He was taken to the juvenile home and will be tried on the charge of larceny.

FRANK'S PARENTS VISITING THEIR SON

Supreme Court Remittitur Will Reach Clerk of the Superior Court Some Time This Morning.

Proclaiming their unswerving faith in the innocence of their convicted son, M. Frank and Mrs. Rea Frank, parents of Leo. M. Frank, have been in Atlanta for several days to remain by his side.

They come from Brooklyn, Frank's former home, where the aged father—a man above 60—is a retired traveling man. It is his first trip to Atlanta since the murder of Mary Phagan more than a year ago. The mother has been in the city frequently. She attended the trial of her son.

They are spending their time with relatives, and are daily visitors to Frank's cell in the Tower. Like Frank himself, the father stoutly maintains that the convicted man's innocence will be established, and that he will be ultimately freed.

Remittitur Handed Down.

It was learned Tuesday afternoon that the remittitur in the Frank case to be handed down by the supreme court to the superior court has been forwarded to the clerk of superior court and will reach his office this morning.

This means that Frank will know the scheduled date of his doom either late this afternoon or some time tomorrow. Habeas corpus proceedings have already been taken out, and will be served upon him at once following the receipt of the remittitur.

He will be removed from the Tower on the habeas corpus writ and carried before Judge George L. Bell—in the absence of Judge Ben Hill—for resentencing. It is predicted that he will be sentenced to hang within the next forty days or less.

Attorneys Leonard Haas and Harry Alexander, representatives of Frank's counsel, who went to Washington to put the doomed man's plea before the supreme court of the United States, returned yesterday after their final plea. They expect a decision from it by next Monday or earlier.

JAMES CALLAWAY SHOT; MISTAKEN FOR THIEF

Shooting Was Done by W. B. Carhart at Peachtree Street Apartment.

James Callaway, one of the best known young business men in Atlanta, was shot and killed in an early hour this morning by W. B. Carhart in his apartment at 815 Peachtree street.

According to the statement made by Mr. Carhart, who is being detained at police station, he had returned to his apartment from the theater and saw a man emerging from the rear entrance to the garage.

He mistook young Callaway for a burglar and fired three shots. One shot pierced his heart.

Mystery surrounds the case. Owing to the lateness of the hour the full facts could not be ascertained. The mystery will doubtless be cleared up in a short time.

LOW WAGES FOR WOMEN PAID IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, December 1.—During the busy season last year of 15,000 women workers in this city, 8,000 received less than $6.10 a week as wages, according to Howard B. Woolston, director of the wage investigation of the state factory investigating committee, who today summed up the findings on wages in New York city at the first of the preliminary hearings of the commission to be held here.

"Half the wages-earners throughout the state investigated by the state factory commission got less than $5 a week," said Mr. Woolston. "Out of a total of 194,000 persons, one-eighth earn less than $5; one-third less than $7; two-thirds receive $10, or less, and only one-sixth make $15 or more.

"It is difficult to see how a girl manages to live properly on $6 or $7 a week. A typical weekly budget shows how near the ragged edge many exist: Clothes, $1.50; room, $2; food, $2.50; car fare, 20 cents; incidentals, 20 cents;

GERMANS ESCAPE RUSSIAN CORDON BUT THE BATTLE NOT YET DECIDED

Flanks of German Forces Harassed by the Cossacks, But Russians Are Not Now in Position to Gain Sweeping Victory They Anticipated.

FIERCE BATTLE IS RAGING AND SUCCESS IS CLAIMED BY BOTH HEADQUARTERS

Kaiser and Czar Are Watching Their Troops Fight. Russians Still Press Into East Prussia and Are Gaining Decisive Results Over the Austro-German Forces in the Vicinity of Cracow.

London, December 1.—The battle in northern Poland is being fought out under the eyes of the German emperor on the one side and the Russian emperor on the other. These two monarchs left for the front today, so that virtually the heads of all the nations at war are with their troops.

The king of England is in France; the king of Belgium, as usual, is spending all his time with his soldiers, while President Poincare, of France, started today for another visit to the northern battlefield.

Official news from Poland continues scanty, and, with both headquarters claiming successes, it is impossible to say how the battle is going. Of its intensity, however, there can be no doubt.

GERMANS BREAK RUSSIAN CORDON.

The Germans, when they started for Warsaw, dashed full tilt into a mass of Russian troops and forced their way so far in that the Russians closed on them. This was taken in Petrograd to mean that some of the German divisions had been cut off and that their surrender or annihilation was inevitable.

It appears, however, that, fighting for their very lives, and in the knowledge that a great defeat would end the German campaign, they pressed on to fall back on their own frontiers, the German troops broke through the Russian lines at one place and at another are holding their entrenchments against all the Russian attacks. Their flanks are being harassed by the Cossacks, but seemingly the Russians are not now in a position to gain the sweeping victory they had counted upon. The losses, with the desperate fighting that has been going on for a fortnight, must necessarily be very heavy on both sides.

RUSS INVASION OF EAST PRUSSIA.

In East Prussia the Russians have succeeded in penetrating about 30 miles beyond the border.

Against the Austro-German forces in the south the Russians continue to gain more decisive results. They now hold all Austrian positions protecting the Carpathian passes, and are said to have arrived abreast of Cracow, while their captures for three weeks number 50,000 men.

Germany continues to view the military situation in the east in confident way, giving no intimation of a reversal at the hands of the Russians. Today's announcement says that 9,500 more prisoners have been taken in Russian Poland in the engagements

C. F. von HERRMANN, Section Director.

THE CONSTITUTION HAS FULL SERVICE OF ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR MORNING PUBLICATION DAILY AND SUNDAY

near the Vistula river, which were said yesterday in Berlin to have resulted favorably for the forces of Emperor William.

Official Petrograd maintains its attitude of reserve. Such reports as are made by any of the three nations engaged in the east deal only with particular phases of the campaign, so that the picture as a whole is blurred.

ARTILLERY FIRE LIVELY IN WEST.

In the west, although the German official report says there is nothing to communicate, the French official statement notes a lively cannonade in Belgium and German activity north of Arras. This may mean the Germans have commenced, or are about to commence, another attempt to get through to the French ports. Certainly there are important changes in the dispositions of the German troops.

Military men here take opposing camps, one side believing the Germans will rest content with holding their positions until the close of the battle in Poland, where they need all the men they can get, while the other looks for an immediate resumption of the battle in northern France and Flanders.

The Germans, too, according to Dutch reports, are strongly fortifying Zeebrugge and other Belgian ports against a renewal of attacks by the allied fleet. Fighting around Ypres was due to the allies pushing their lines forward.

SUCCESS CLAIMED BY GERMANS.

Berlin, December 1.—(By wireless to London.)—The following official announcement was given out in Berlin today:

"In East Prussia and in southern Poland it was generally quiet yesterday. In northern Poland, south of the Vistula, our war booty was increased still further as a result of the successes announced yesterday.

"The number of prisoners taken by us has been increased by about 9,500 men, and we have taken 19 more cannon. In addition, 26 machine guns and numerous ammunition carts fell into our hands."

Referring to the Russian official communication of November 29, German headquarters says:

"The great story of success for the German troops has come to light in the fighting near Lodz. German forces operating against the right flank and in the rear of the Russians, in their turn, were attacked by Russians who pressed them hard, coming from the east and south.

"The Germans turned from the Russians with whom they were engaged and fought with three divisions' fight, breaking through the Russian ring. In doing so they brought with them 12,000 prisoners, as well as twenty-five guns and the whole of the German gun.

"The German losses naturally were not small, but they certainly could not be described as severe.

"It is reported from Posen that the Austrian emperor has telegraphed his congratulations to Field Marshal von Hindenburg and appointed him chief of infantry regiment No. 69."

RUSSIANS CLAIM TO BE WINNING.

Petrograd, December 1.—An official communication issued from general headquarters tonight says:

"On the left bank of the river Vistula, in the region of Lodz, the action continued to develop on November 30, the attacks of the enemy being directed principally against the front between Bielavy and Brzezini, north of Lowicz, our offensive was crowned with success. In the region of Lodz the artillery action has been energetic.

"On the left wing reconnaissances during the last few days disclosed the fact that the retreat operation of German contingents from Kalisz in the direction of Sieradz, has been very considerable.

The condition of German prisoners captured in the region of Lodz is said to resemble that of the French troops during Napoleon's retreat from Moscow. Many of them have frost bitten hands and feet. They were strapped in blankets and shawls taken from the peasants. One private wore a woman's fur wrap. The prisoners say that before their capture their courage was kept up by statements that the quartermaster was bringing warm clothes, which would be distributed in a few days.

The reported use by the Germans of monasteries, chapels and other public buildings in captured towns as barracks, stables and gun stations, is explained by the prisoners as due to the belief that the private buildings had been mined.

Reports from the front are that reinforcements sent for the army of General Mackensen near Lodz are taking up positions along the Vistula river where the German resistance seems to have been least effective. The apparent purpose of this movement is to hinder the Russian enveloping movement until the main German column is extricated from the line which runs from Strykow through Gziers to Szadek.

Semi-official reports from Galicia indicate that the Russian advance along the foothills of the Carpathian mountains has reached a point due south of Cracow, thus surrounding the city from the northeast and south.

RUSSIANS DRIVE AUSTRIAN FORCES.

Lemberg, Galicia, December 2.—(Via London.)—The strategic Russian advance is persistently pushing back the Austrians into Cracow. Information reaching Lemberg from a trustworthy source is to the effect that the Austrians are evacuating position after position, with very few losses.

It is stated that the Austrians' line of retreat is strewn so thickly with the dead that the Russians have not time to bury them. The cold is so severe that the bodies are frozen.

German officers are in supreme command at Cracow. They are placing machine guns, light artillery and wireless apparatus, it is reported, on the cathedral and other historical edifices, gravely the fire of the Russians to these buildings.

Recent arrivals from provinces in Galacia state that the inhabitants of all the regions evacuated by the Austrians are facing famine.

AUSTRIA CLAIMS RUSSIAN DEFEAT.

Berlin, December 1.—(Via wireless to London.)—It is officially reported from Vienna that the Russian defeat in the battle of Homonna, fifteen miles northwest of Unghvar, was greater than at first supposed.

"The enemy's position," says the statement, "was surrounded. Both our wings directed flank attacks and compelled them to beat a hasty retreat with a loss of 1,000 killed or wounded and 4,000 taken prisoner.

"The total number of prisoners taken by the Austrians in the fighting in Poland is 35,000.

"Archduke Frederick, commander-in-chief of the Austrian army, congratulating Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg on his recent triumphs, emphasizes the varying harmony which exists between the Austrian and German armies."

Vienna, December 1.—(Via London, December 2, 2:18 a. m.)—The following official dispatch was issued here today:

"On our front in West Galicia and in Russian Poland conditions Monday were calm.

"In the Carpathians the battles continue."

GERMAN SORTIES ARE REPULSED.

Paris, December 1.—The following official communication was issued by the war office at 11 o'clock tonight:

"In Belgium the German infantry has essayed, without success, a sortie against the trenches occupied north of Ilxschoote between Bethune and Lens. After a rather hot affair we captured the chateau and the park of Verlinelles (south of the Lys river).

"In the Argonne we have advanced appreciably in the wood of Lagruria.

"On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

The official communication given out in the afternoon says that yesterday the enemy showed considerable activity north of Arras. In Belgium there was a fairly exchange of artillery but no infantry attacks.

The text of the communication follows:

"In Belgium there was a rather spirited artillery fire during the day of November 30, but no attack was made by the German infantry.

"The enemy continued to show considerable activity to the north of Arras.

"In the region of the Aisne there was intermittent artillery fire along all the front. In the Argonne the fighting continues but without bringing any change in the situation.

"In the Woevre district and in the Vosges there is nothing to report."

GERMANS SHELL ARMENTIERES.

Paris, December 1.—The city of Armentieres, on the River Lys, around which has raged some of the severest fighting of the war, is now in a serious plight. The Germans have begun to shell the city about three weeks ago. A dispatch to the Havas agency says that during the last two days the bombardment has been particularly violent.

One shell struck a gas reservoir, causing it to explode.

The industrial life of the city is at a standstill. For the last nine days there has been a scarcity of water and it is thought that the enemy may have cut the conduits.

All civilians are required to be indoors by 8 p. m. and lights must be extinguished at 9 o'clock. During the night the deserted streets are patrolled by squads of British troops. English airships are continually hovering over the town and frequently have engagements with the air craft of the Germans.

RHEIMS RUINED BY SHELL FIRE.

Paris, December 1.—In an account of the bombardment of Rheims, which has been in progress intermittently for several weeks, The Temps asserts that the Archeological museum containing Roman, Gallic and French collections, has been destroyed. Tapestries by Gobelin, the Flemish workman, also were ruined.

The factories have been damaged to such an extent that the textile industry has suffered greatly. The loss due to the destruction of buildings is estimated at 350,000,000 francs ($70,000,000).

GERMANS FLEE EAST PRUSSIA.

London, December 2.—(2:05 a. m.)—The Daily Mail's Copenhagen correspondent telegraphs:

"About 40,000 fugitives from East Prussia have been sent to Schleswig-Holstein and Hanover and more than double this number is being sent in the interior of Germany, a majority of them being without work or food."

GENERAL VON MOLTKE RETURNING TO FRONT

Amsterdam, December 1.—(Via London.)—Lieutenant General Count von Moltke, says a Berlin dispatch to The Telegraaf, has recovered his health and is returning to the front.

Count von Moltke had been ill for several weeks, during which various reports concerning him were circulated. It was said that he had been succeeded as chief of the German general staff by Major General Falkenhaven. This report, however, was not confirmed, it being said in Berlin that General Falkenhayen was merely acting as chief of staff during the illness of Von Moltke.

GERMANY IS PLANNING TO STRIKE BRITISH FLEET

London, December 2.—(2:59 a. m.)—Telegraphing from Copenhagen, The Daily Mail's correspondent says:

"Realising Great Britain's preponderance in the Scandinavia, work at the German dockyards is being concentrated on the construction of submarines and aircraft and also on what are called 'floatin' batteries.

"The German theory appears to be that the British fleet can be beaten by launching against it a huge submarine and air attack.

"It is reported that the German fleet again has steamed into the North sea."

ENGLAND NO PARADISE FOR "ALIEN ENEMIES"

Hostility Against Germans Is Caused by Belief That All of Them Are Spies.

London, November 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The lives of those officially designated as "alien enemies" in England are not cheerful these days, although they are not in any danger of insults or violence. The only outbreak against them was a recent hooting in the suburbs of London when several German shops were smashed.

The rioters received a lesson likely to put a damper on future outbreaks. The ringleader was sentenced to one year in prison, two supporters to six months and eighteen others were released on bonds under condition that they fulfill their fervently expressed ambition to enlist in Kitchener's army.

Against Wealthy Germans.

Hostility against Germans has been caused principally by the popular belief that all of them are active or possible spies. The most recent campaign in the newspapers has been against the influential and wealthy Germans who play a powerful part in British financial life. Naturalised Germans, as well as those who retain the allegiance of their birth, are included in the general cloud of suspicion.

There are several German-born members of parliament, and by an outstanding among themselves they are remaining away from Westminster during the present crisis. None of them has yet resigned. A few days ago several newspapers started an agitation to have all male Germans and Austrians confined in concentration camps, and a general round-up was under way. Two causes nipped this movement in the bud. One was prompt retaliation in Germany, where all English residents were gathered in by the police, and the other was the difficulty of finding accommodations for the great number of foreigners who were eligible for the concentration camps.

Spies are sharply divided into two classes by British opinion. For the German naval reserve, Lieutenant Carl Hans Lody, who was shot in the Tower of London, there have had nothing unkind to say. For a naturalized barber named Ernst, who was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, there has been much exoneration. The judge who sentenced Ernst called him a "contemptible creature," and said that he would have been as willing to betray Germany as he was England, if paid for his work.

Acted as Go-Between.

Ernst acted merely as a go-between in forwarding letters for the chief of the German-British espionage system, named Steinauer, and his wages were only $25 a month. Scotland Yard detectives have been shadowing Steinauer's wife for two years. They intercepted and read his letters and permitted those to go on which contained harmless information and misleading information. Public opinion places in entirely different classes the spies who do their work in time of war take chances, and those who follow the business in time of peace, professing friendship for the country and making their living in it.

None of the possible but unprovable things has taken a firmer hold on popular belief except the passage of Russian boats from Scotland to France on the wondrefull doings of German spies. The authorities are inundated with revelations and clues. The whole east coast of England is swarming with men who send flashlight signals to German ships at night. If the stories of the newspapers in coast towns are correct.

One gentleman has sent the authorities a most detailed account of the code messages transmitted by red and white lights from the neighborhood of his home, but the police have never been able to see these signals with the same eyes as the discoverer. Germans have made excavations, have laid concrete foundations for heavy guns at strategical points and have built cunningly concealed roads from landing bases, according to some of the most strongly urged clues.

Behind Masses of Suspicion.

Behind the masses of suspicion and rumor there is enough activity by the German discovery from time to time to keep the public in a state of uneasiness. The suspicion that the Germans have a base for submarines, a supply station for aeroplanes and wireless apparatus in remote parts of the Scottish coast may be founded on fact. The activities of the German navy far from its own coasts, which have enabled it to scatter mines off the north of Ireland, and to sink the superdreadnaught Audacious by mine or submarine, furnish ground for that theory. The government has had to submit to the intolerable placards in Scotland offering a reward of $500 for the discovery of any base for fuel supplies of petrol or hostile wireless.

HOW GERMANS VIEW AMERICAN NEUTRALITY

Berlin, December 1.—(Via London.)—The statement of the American ambassador, James W. Gerard, regarding contraband, is generally reprinted in the German press. The Kreuz Zeitung says no objection can be raised to the standpoint taken, which is thoroughly objective and comprehensive.

Count Ernest von Reventlow, in The Tages Zeitung, finds the American standpoint technically correct, but argues that such shipments, whereby only the allies benefit and which constantly strengthen the military effort directed against Germany, actually work out in practice as a support of one belligerent to the detriment of another, and is a way contrary to the spirit of neutrality. He makes the suggestion that the American government use the weight of its authority in London to insure the delivery of such supplies to Germany and its allies. He also says that the United States will be able to demonstrate, by such a practical policy, indubitably that its neutrality is loyal.

REICHSTAG WILL VOTE $1,250,000,000 FOR WAR

Berlin, December 1.—(Via London.)—The reichstag will meet tomorrow to vote a war credit of $1,250,000,000. Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, conferred today with party leaders, explaining the military and financial situation. He first received socialist leaders.

It is agreed that the war credit will be adopted unanimously and without debate. The government does not intend to raise the new loan forthwith, and probably will not do so until spring.

Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, speaking to the reichstag committees said the military situation on both fronts was wholly favorable, but that he wished to defer further explanations until the meeting of the reichstag tomorrow. He said he hoped the reichstag would vote the loan unanimously, as this would encourage the troops to the greatest energy.

D. S. O. IS AWARDED 59 BRITISH OFFICERS

London, December 1.—The distinguished service order has been awarded to fifty-nine officers of all arms, from special reserves to the guards. Thirty-nine have been given lieutenants or second lieutenants. The rewards have been made for such reasons as "cheerfulness and optimism," "helping the brigade to pull together," "consistent good work" and "utmost gallantry."

Lord Alastair Robert Innes-Ker was given the reward for "conspicuous courage with the advance squadron at Kruiseik in bringing wounded men out of action under a heavy fire."

Lord Innes-Ker, captain in the Royal Horse Guards, is reported as having been wounded in action. He is a brother of the Duke of Roxburghe and married Anne Breese, daughter of the late W. L. Breese, of New York. He already has the queen's medal and the king's medal, won in the South African war.

REPULSE FOR AUSTRIANS CLAIMED BY SERVIANS

But the Austrians Declare They Are Servians and War Material.

Paris, December 1.—A violent attack by the Austrians on the Servian front running from Lanarovats to Maljen, along the river Ljig, in northeastern Servia, was repulsed, says a dispatch from Nish today to The Havas agency. It is reported that more than 600 dead and wounded were found on the battlefield. The positions occupied by the Austrians were on the right bank of the Ljig. Twenty officers and 1,500 soldiers are reported to have been captured.

Austria Claims Victory.

Vienna, December 1.—(Via London.)—An official announcement issued today says:

"In the southern war theater a step in the operations has reached a victorious conclusion. The enemy, who for several days has been offering strong resistance east of the rivers Koluabra and Ljig (Servia) again attempted to take the offensive, but was repulsed, suffering heavy losses in his retreat. On the battlefield at Komatice alone our troops found 800 unburied bodies.

"Since the beginning of our successful offensive we have taken more than 10,000 prisoners and have captured 47 machine guns, three and quantities of other war material."

Servia Counts on Russia.

London, December 2.—(2:05 a. m.)—A Petrograd dispatch to The Times, described by British critics, says:

"Austria has half a million men on the Servian front, but the Servians were informed of this in time and retreated into positions more convenient for defense. The Servians hope the Russians will soon appear under the walls of Budapest."

GERMANY NOT TAXING FLOUR SENT BELGIANS

London, December 1.—The American Belgian relief committee today characterised as wholly without foundation the statement published in The Echo Belge, November 28, that the German authorities in Belgium were taxing flour sent from the United States for the starving people of the country at the rate of $2.50 per 100 kilograms.

This statement came to London by way of Amsterdam and was cabled from London to the United States.

GEN. JOFFRE SAYS FRENCH WILL STAY IN ALSACE

Paris, December 1.—General Joffre, on a recent visit to Thann, Alsace, was welcomed in the name of France Alsatians gathered there. "We shall become back for good," declared General Joffre, "you are Frenchmen forever."

The citizens of Thann gave General Joffre an ovation in their joyance. It said, and when he was leaving shouted "Long live France!" "Long live French Alsace."

EPIDEMIC OF TYPHOID IN THE BELGIAN ARMY

London, December 2.—(4:30 a. m.)—The British Red Cross has appropriated $50,000 for fighting an epidemic of typhoid fever in the Belgian army.

APPEAL MADE FOR JEWS IN WAR-SWEPT ZONES

New York, December 1.—The greatest crisis the Jewish people have faced for modern times now confronts that race, in the opinion of the American Jewish relief committee for sufferers by the war, the committee today issued an appeal for funds to aid immediately 2,000,000 Jewish nations at war.

It was stated that more than 9,000,000 Jews live within the area of conflict and that 6,000,000 of these are in the actual war zone in Poland, Galicia and along the whole Russian frontier. "Hunger, disease, destitution in its extremest form," the appeal declares, "confronts a Jewish population as numerous as that of Belgium."

Rockefeller Fights Tax.

Cleveland, Ohio, December 1.—John D. Rockefeller will waste no time in his fight for relief from the new income tax of $311,000,000 against him here, Virgil P. Kline, his attorney, said today. Within a few days Mr. Rockefeller will ask the federal court to enjoin the collection of the tax.

THREE GREAT MONARCHS AT THE BATTLE FRONT

German Kaiser, Russian Czar and English King With the Fighting Men.

London, December 1.—The monarchs of three of the great European powers are now at the front. Emperor William has arrived at Insterburg, East Prussia, close to the scene of heavy fighting during the last few days with the invading Russians. Emperor Nicholas departed today for the scene of action. King George is making his first visit to the battle line in France.

King George's visit to France seems greatly to appeal to the popular imagination. The newspapers point out that his majesty's trip, pointing out that it is the first time a reigning British monarch has been with his colonies in the field in 171 years—George II. being the last predecessor to do so.

Kaiser is East Prussia.

Amsterdam, December 2.—(Via London.)—Emperor William reached Insterburg, East Prussia, yesterday. He continued on the way to the front, traveling by motor car.

Insterburg is sixteen miles northwest of Gumbinnen, the capture of which by the Russians was reported unofficially recently, although not subsequently confirmed. The German war office statement yesterday showed that the invading Russians had penetrated East Prussia to a point ten miles southwest of Gumbinnen.

Czar Nicholas to Front.

Petrograd, December 1.—Emperor Nicholas left Petrograd this morning for the theater of war.

DECREASE IS SHOWN IN THE LICENSE VOTE

Boston, December 1.—The shift of Northampton from license to no-license was the only change on the liquor license question recorded in elections in eight Massachusetts cities today. In all except Marlboro, however, the figures indicated a decrease in license sentiment.

Quincy and Waltham, the only two no-license cities voting, increased the margin of victory over the license forces. The cities voting for license were Pittsburg, Holyoke, Marlboro, New Bedford and Pittsfield.

Taft at Chapel Hill.

Chapel Hill, N. C., December 1.—Former President William H. Taft will deliver three lectures to the students of the University of North Carolina here on March 17, 18 and 19 of next year, according to an announcement by the university authorities today. He will discuss current topics. The addresses will be a part of the regular university course of instruction.

7,584 National Banks.

Washington, December 1.—There were 7,584 national banks in the United States at the close of business November 20. They had a capital of $1,074,675, circulation outstanding of $674,674,675, circulation outstanding of other securities of $270,078,238. During November twelve applications for organization of national banks were approved.

WAR STAMP FAMINE CAUSE OF WORRY

Revenue Collectors Are Instructed to Date Shipments Nov. 30, Where Shippers Unable to Secure Stamps.

A run upon the stamp window of the internal revenue department for war tax stamps Monday and Tuesday exhausted the heavy supply in the federal building and Atalnta is today without revenue stamps. A hurry order for 1,000,000 new stamps has been sent to Washington.

Advices from Washington received last night, however, bear the encouraging news that the alarm of the hundreds who pressed into the line for stamps Monday and Tuesday was needless, as the government has arranged to protect those who were unable to obtain stamps at the last moment.

Nearly 500,000 stamps were sold Monday and perhaps half of that number went Tuesday. Only ten 1-cent stamps were left Tuesday at the end of the strenuous two days' sale. Monday was the last day of grace given the shippers whose packages necessitated war tax, and it was the fear of prosecution for failure to obtain stamps that created the heavy demand at the eleventh hour.

The following is an Associated Press dispatch from Washington:

Will Not Prosecute.

Washington, December 1.—Thousands of persons in many cities who spent hours today rushing the offices of internal revenue collectors, alarmed because they could not obtain war revenue stamps, were needlessly frightened over what might happen if they were not on the minute with their stamping. The internal revenue bureau in the treasury department itself, much worried over the task of getting the law into smooth working order, found time late in the day to send telegrams to collectors making it plain that the government has no intention of prosecuting anybody subject to the tax who shows he is willing and ready to buy stamps.

Frantic calls from collectors telling of besieging crowds demanding stamps resulted in a telegram tonight, signed by Commissioner Osborn and sent to all collectors, to clear up the difficulty. It said:

"Date all special tax returns November 30 until you can handle applications promptly, unless you have information that no effort was made to file same prior to that date. If unable to supply demand for documentary stamps for bills of lading permit shipments to go forward, have record kept and affix or cancel stamps when received. Notify railroads."

By this notice the commissioner's office expected to relieve a situation which promised to become embarrassing to thousands of individuals, and might have brought much confusion to railroads and shippers.

Officials here explained today that everything possible had been done here to get ready to enforce the law. The bureau of engraving and printing has worked night and day since the law was passed, turning out the new stamps. The problem of furnishing stamps has been complicated, however, by the failure in some instances of collectors to regard suggestions from Washington that all applicants be given a sufficient supply to last a few days and not be permitted to load up with large quantities. Information here is that some applicants have obtained supplies to last a month, while in the same communities others have been unable to get any stamps.

As an illustration of the vast numbers of stamps required, it was pointed out that virtually every article in drug stores is subject to the tax. Many drug stores carry possibly 100,000 such taxable articles, and there are thousands of drug stores throughout the country.

Officials say congress did not facilitate the work of the revenue bureau, but rather hampered it by failing to give any additional appropriation to permit it to prepare for carrying out the new law.

The bureau tonight made public a ruling that certificates issued by officers of a state in the interest of the state are not subject to the tax. Certificates issued by an officer of the government at the request of private persons solely for private use must be stamped.

FOUR M'NEILLS PERISH IN A WILMINGTON FIRE

Wilmington, N. C., December 1.—Four members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McNeill, of Delgado, a suburb of Wilmington, were burned to death in a fire of unknown origin which destroyed their home this morning at 1 o'clock. The dead are:

Miss Hannah McNeill, aged 21.
Wade McNeill, aged 3.
Amelia McNeill, aged 11.
Walter McNeill, aged 8.
Willie McNeill, a brother of those burned, jumped from the second story in time to avoid a similar fate.

The fire started at the rear of the house, probably in the kitchen, and the building was burning fiercely when the watchman at a nearby mill gave the alarm.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeill were sleeping downstairs and barely escaped with their lives.

Practical Side of "German Struggle" As Applied in a Real Tug of War!

GERMAN SOLDIERS PULLING 42-CENTIMETER SIEGE GUN OVER SOFT GROUND.

This striking war picture shows German soldiers pulling a great forty-two centimeter Krupp siege gun out of the mud on a soft road in Flanders. Ropes were attached to the wheels, and scores of men indulged in a real tug of war. This is the type of gun which has created so much havoc in Belgium and which the Germans yet hope to install on concrete foundations along the coast, so as to train on English battleships in the channel.

MORTUARY

(All Funeral Notices Appear on Last Page.)

Mrs. Mary G. Stanley.

Mrs. Mary G. Stanley, 62 years old, died at her home, 49 Queen street, Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock. She is survived by her daughter, Miss Winnie Stanley; six sons, R. O., W. C., R. M., F. G., L. M., and C. C. Stanley; one brother, E. B. Chapman, and three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Morrow, Mrs. Isham Stanley and Mrs. F. W. Perkins. She was a member of West End Presbyterian church. The body will be carried this morning at 9:10 o'clock to La-Grange, Ga., over the Atlanta and West Point railroad for funeral and interment.

W. T. Holly, East Point, Ga.

PRESBYTERIANS NORTH WIN OVER CUMBERLAND

Jefferson City, Mo., December 1.—The consolidation of the Presbyterian church (north) and the Cumberland Presbyterian church is valid, according to a decision of the Missouri supreme court today.

The property of the Cumberland church at Marshall, Mo., under the decision of the court becomes the property of the Presbyterian church, regardless of the fact that it was paid for by members of the old Cumberland church. All the judges concurred except Judge Graves.

The decision was on a case appealed from the circuit court at Marshall, in which the Cumberland church sought recovery of its old property and claimed that the consolidation of the two branches of the Presbyterian church was illegal.

The court ruled that civil courts have no right to interfere with the decision of the highest tribunal of the church in purely ecclesiastical affairs.

Under this decision Missouri Valley college at Marshall will become the property of the Presbyterian church.

PERKINS IS ARRAIGNED FOR KILLING HINMAN

Charleston, S. C., December 1.—George B. Perkins, of Boston, was indicted by the federal grand jury today on the charge of murdering F. W. R. Hinman, of Jacksonville, Fla., while aboard the Clyde liner Mohawk, at sea, November 11. Other counts in the indictment charges assault and battery with intent to kill Captain A. D. Ingram, of the Mohawk, and R. H. Wright, of Utica, N. Y., a passenger.

Perkins, who is an architect, has been in custody here since the shooting. Hinman was business manager of The Times Union, at Jacksonville, and president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association.

Following his arraignment this afternoon it was announced that Perkins' trial would begin tomorrow morning.

DEATH HAS SUMMONED REAR ADMIRAL MAHAN

His Writings on Influence of Sea Power Have Profoundly Influenced the World.

Washington, December 1.—Rear Admiral Alfred T. Mahan, U. S. N., retired, acclaimed in naval circles as the "greatest modern writer on naval strategy," died at the naval hospital here today, aged 74 years. Death was due to heart trouble.

Admiral Mahan had overtaxed his strength studying the great European conflict, and it is believed the many long hours he devoted to following the naval operations of the belligerents probably caused the breakdown that hastened his end.

In the early stages of the European war Admiral Mahan, whose works on naval text-books almost the world over, discussed for the newspapers the significance of various naval maneuvers. He gave up the sea activities when President Wilson issued his proclamation exhorting navy and army officers to desist from aynthing resembling a partisan discussion of the conflict. He, however, did not relax his close observation of all that went on in Europe.

Admiral Mahan came to Washington from his home in Quogue, Long Island, in early autumn, and had planned to spend the winter here.

Funeral services will be held from St. Thomas' Episcopal church, in this city, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. In accordance with Admiral Mahan's expressed wish, services will be of the simplest character. There will be no military ceremonies and no honorary pallbearers. The body will be taken to Quogue, L. I.

Tribute by Navy Department.

A formal statement, issued from the navy department, contained this appreciation of the admiral's works:

"Admiral Mahan's books were classics in their line and were widely read throughout the world. In every country possessing a navy they became veritable text-books in naval strategy. In England leading naval men of the day confessed that it had remained for Admiral Mahan to elucidate the work of the British navy in a way that they themselves never had understood or even dreamed of. His books and essays have kept him before the world as the greatest modern writer on naval strategy. He was a close student of world politics, and his writings on the trend of the politics of the leading nations of the world were accepted as authority. It may be said safely that no writer of modern times evinced a keener insight in the affairs of the world or expressed concerning them more clearly and convincingly than did the late Admiral Mahan.

"His death will cause international regret, not only because of the high esteem in which he is held in every country of the world interested in naval affairs, but also because a void among naval and polit ical authorities of the world that no author and writer can fill."

The admiral's literary achievements had been widely recognized. In 1894 Oxford university (England) conferred the degree of D. C. L. upon him, and later he was awarded the degree of LL. D. by Cambridge (England), Harvard, Yale, McGill and Columbia. He was a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters and of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

His Writings Epoch-Making.

It has been said of Rear Admiral Mahan that his works on the influence of sea power on world history are responsible for the German emperor's naval policy and have had a more profound influence on the trend of the naval thought and action, not only in the United States and Germany but in Great Britain and throughout the world, than the writings of any other man of his day.

In naval circles the world over his contributions to this great subject have been hailed as almost epoch-making. In Germany his works have been translated into the national tongue by order of the kaiser, at whose behest they have become text books for the German naval officers. The emperor has been for twenty-five years a close student of all that Mahan has written and it is asserted that, by imperial command, even magazine articles have been reproduced in the German tongue that nothing from the great American authority should be lost to the kaiser's officers. Mahan lost to the kaiser's officers.

Mahan first acquired fame in 1890 by the publication of "The Influence of Sea Power on History, 1660-1783." This work, like the one which followed it, "The Influence of Sea Power on the French Revolution and Empire," won immediate recognition from statesmen, historians and naval strategists in Great Britain, continental Europe and Japan.

Among others of Admiral Mahan's best known works are "Life of Admiral Farragut," "Life of Nelson," embodying the sea power of Great Britain; "Sea Power in Its Relations to the War of 1812," "The Interest of the United States in Sea Power," "Some Neglected Aspects of War," "From Sail to Steam," and "The Problem of Asia."

A., B. & A. ROAD PLACED IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

Purchasers of Line Last July Fail to Meet Their Obligations.

Macon, Ga., December 1.—E. T. Lamb, former receiver for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, was again placed in charge of that road today as a result of an order signed this day by Judge Don A. Pardee, of the United States circuit court.

The railroad was sold on June 16, 1914, at a commissioner's sale and was bid in by Martin D. Wyly and Frederick Belts, trustees, the terms of the court reserved the right to retake the road in case they failed to meet all obligations.

Wylly and Belts admit that they are unable to provide for the charges and obligations that they had promised to meet.

Holders of receivers' certificates and bondholders are said to have agreed to the new receivership.

SHIP BELGIAN SUPPLIES TO NEAREST SEAPORT

New York, December 1.—"Ship at once to the nearest seaport."

This message was sent today by the American commission for relief in Belgium to more than 1,000 commissioners in the United States. The commission has perfected a country-wide system of arrangements and it is expected that vast quantities of food and clothing will be collected at the state headquarters in a day or two will begin to move to every important city in the United States.

For convenience in handling and shipping foodstuffs, the commission has requested all local organizations to affiliate themselves with state committees. Where there is no state committee, the local relief parties are requested to arrange storage depots for small lots that can be assembled in carload lots. The commission arranges shipping free of charge from the seaboard to Belgium and agrees to pay all railroad freight charges in cases where the railroads themselves are not shipping free. A system is being worked out so that express and parcel post lots may be sent free of charge to such centers in each state.

The commission made public a list of state committees already organized together with their executive heads. They include:

Alabama, James Bowron, Birmingham; Georgia, E. H. Mac, Atlanta; Kansas, W. R. Stubbs, Topeka; Kentucky, Colonel Henry Watterson, Louisville; Louisiana, General Francis Perrilliat, New Orleans; Maryland, Theodore Waters, Baltimore; North Carolina, Westray Battle, Asheville; Oklahoma, Charles L. Williams, Oklahoma City; Virginia, Colonel H. M. Boykin, Richmond.

3 YEARS FOR ANDERSON, CONVICTED OF KILLING

Augusta, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) The case of the state against Vernon E. Anderson came to an end early this morning in superior court, and he was found guilty by a jury of voluntary manslaughter, and sentenced to serve three years. The case for the state went down when two negroes gave testimony contrary to that which they had formerly given in a statement to Sheriff Plunkett and his deputy on the night of the killing of John Green by Anderson, October 12 last. Motion will probably be made against the negroes if the solicitor, Hoke Hammond pointed the jury as to their views regarding punishment, and the opinions of the jurors, themselves, ran above an average of four and one-half years.

4 FARM CONVENTIONS WILL MEET AT ATHENS

Athens, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) Four state-wide conventions of interest to every farmer and gardener, orchardist and stock raiser in the state, are to hold their annual meetings in Athens again this winter—in January—and upon the heels of the midwinter short-course terms in the State College of Agriculture.

The dates have been announced as follows:

The Georgia Breeders' association on Saturday, January 16.

The Georgia State Dairy and Live Stock association on Monday and Tuesday, January 18 and 19.

The Georgia State Horticultural society on Tuesday and Wednesday, January 19 and 20.

A WOMAN WANTS WORK; WILL NOT TAKE CHARITY

Mrs. M. L. Pearson, of 169 Tyler street, who has walked the streets in vain for two weeks looking for work to support herself and two children, has refused to turn, even as a last resort, to the charitable organizations of the city for help.

She declares that she wants work not charity. She says she is a good hat trimmer, but that no one seems to want any hats trimmed.

DANIELS NOT TO ATTEND ODD FELLOWS' MEETING

Fairburn, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—On account of his engagement in the trial of cases in Campbell superior court during the present week, Judge R. T. Daniel, of the Flynt circuit, who is presiding here for Judge Reid, will not be present to make the address scheduled for the Odd Fellows' convention at Waycross tomorrow, Wednesday. The judge regrets that conditions deprive him of the pleasure of attending the Waycross convention of his great fraternity. Several civil cases were disposed of today and the criminal calendar will be taken up Wednesday morning.

TILLMAN IS OPPOSED TO GIANT NAVY SCHEME

Washington, December 1.—Hearings on the naval appropriation were continued today before the house naval affairs committee, which is endeavoring to hurry work on the big defense measure. Surgeon General Gorgas discussed the estimates for sanitary and medical work in the navy. Owing to the general desire to finish the many big supply bills before the expiration of the present congress March 4, 1915, every effort will be made to avoid a prolonged contest over the threatened disagreement as to the necessity for radical increases in naval strength following the developments of the European war.

Little sympathy for the proposal that a great increase be made in the naval establishment was expressed today by Senator Tillman, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee. He declared that it would be "very foolish" for the coming session of congress to authorize more than the usual two battleships.

"Of course," he said, "there are many hysterical people in the country who can already see us involved in war or attacked by some European power. But I believe that the American navy, as at present constituted, is second to none unless it be the British navy. Certainly it is well able to care for our interests."

Senator Tillman, who is chairman of the joint commission investigating the advisability of the government's building an armor plate plant, said that the investigation so far had strengthened his conviction that if the government is to continue to use heavy armor it should manufacture instead of buy it.

"But the outcome of the impending battle between the British and German fleets," he said, "may change the entire policy and put an end to the building of heavily armored ships."

There are 41,064 miles of electric railway track in the United States.

WOMEN SUFFER MOST WHEN WAR IS RAGING

Chicago, December 1.—Declaring that the whole force of woman's influence would be against war and pleading that women be allowed representation at the peace movement, Mrs. Fethick Lawrence, of London, England, spoke here today at the organization of a league under the auspices of the Chicago Equal Suffrage association.

"This war has exploded once and for all the theory that women are the protected sex," she said. Mrs. Pethick-Lawrence. "We give honor, and rightly, to the soldier who faces death in defense of his country, but that is infinitely to be preferred to that of women who are left behind to face the complete disorganization of industry. Thousands of women in England are flagg to face with starvation.

Mrs. Pethick-Lawrence declared that in the making of treaties after war the point of view of women had never been considered. "It is vital," she said, "that it should be expressed at the present moment. The neutral that is the woman's movement shall help to formulate public opinion; shall help to find expression for the new spirit that is in the world today."

Among the things advocated by the speaker were "the ratification of all treaties by the people affected and that women shall participate in The Hague conferences."

JAPAN'S RULER THANKED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

New York, December 1.—The east and west news bureau made public today the following cablegram received by them from Tokio:

"The American ambassador at Tokio, Mr. Guthrie, has communicated to the foreign office that he has received a telegram from President Wilson instructing him to convey to the Japanese emperor the deep thanks of the president for the imperial gift, made on November 9, to the St. Luke's International hospital. The communication further states that the president of the United States deems the gift a generous token of the sincere wish of the Japanese emperor for the success of the charitable enterprise undertaken by Americans, and that it further affords a renewed proof of the close friendship and cordiality existing between the two countries."

BALANCE OF $70,000,000 FOR THE UNITED STATES

Washington, December 1.—Exports from the twelve ports which handle 80 per cent of the export business of the United States totalled $43,098,852 for the week ending November 28, as compared with imports aggregating $26,885,557, leaving a favorable trade balance of $16,413,295.

The twenty-two working days of November yielded a trade balance in favor of the United States of $63,188,992 which, according to official estimates, indicates a November excess of approximately $70,000,000 for the entire country.

MULES FOR FRENCH ARMY SHIPPED FROM AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) A local stable has just shipped another carload of mules for use in the French army, and another carload will go out this week. They are being sent through New Orleans. Only old mules are being bought in this market, and the prices range from $75 to $125 apiece.

WILSON AND BRYAN AS PEACE APOSTLES

Washington, December 1.—Eduardo Suarez-Mujica, presenting his credentials today to President Wilson as the first ambassador from Chile to the United States, spoke of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan as "the two most intense expressions of the pacifist sentiment of this republic," and gave as continued co-operation, he said, he was sure of his ability successfully to achieve the object of the mission with which he had been invested, "to continue to promote the cordial entente of the two countries both in political and commercial affairs."

"An evolution fruitful in substantial and progressive development for this continent," said Mr. Suarez, "has been in operation of late through the agency of the neighborliness which concord with which the governments of America, with the clear comprehension of our common destinies, have begun to join their aspirations and efforts."

In his reply, the president said that in his rank as minister, Mr. Suarez had given many evidences of his cordial good will and had "so conducted his mission as to win our esteem." He added that he "viewed with pleasure the steady growth in importance and intimacy of the interchange of thought and feeling between the two countries."

TAFT'S VIEW OF CANADA AND MONROE DOCTRINE

Australian Editor Says Ex-President Has Thrown Doctrine Into Discard.

Melbourne, Australia, December 1.—(Via London.)—The Melbourne Age, referring to the views of former President Taft concerning the Monroe doctrine, expressed recently at Montclair, N. J., and particularly his statement that the United States would not be compelled by the terms of the doctrine to intervene if Canada should be attacked by Germany, has this to say:

"If the interpretation suggests the views of the government of the United States, an event of the first importance to the entire civilized world has taken place. If the Wilson government shares Mr. Taft's opinion, it is very clear that the Monroeism is a thing of the past and that the United States has definitely taken a position she has been jealously guarding for a period extending upwards of eighty years."

In his address at Montclair, N. J., last Friday night, ex-President Taft said that while the landing of troops in Canada by enemies of Great Britain would not constitute a violation of the Monroe doctrine, any effort to establish a new form of government in case of victory would violate that policy. Mr. Taft added:

"But the Monroe doctrine would consistently require of us would be to insist that when the war is over, if Germany was successful, she could not take over the territory of Canada and overthrow her government and establish her own there, or take any oppressive measures which would have a similar effect. But we would not object to her exacting an indemnity if she were the victor."

The average length of life in England is 44 years.

SALES HELPS

No. 2

We are reproducing below a striking appreciation of the effective copy that our Service Department is producing for our clientele. The value of "just right" copy in advertising cannot be overestimated. Good copy represents a composite whole. It consists of a thorough knowledge of the business to be advertised, a practical idea of a campaign that will produce sales, and a telling command of English that can drive that idea home. The proper copy is essential; without that cog the advertising machine must stop. The very best medium and the wrong copy is a waste of effort and money. We go to a large expense in keeping up our Copy and Typographical Departments for the benefit of our clients. Our clients get this Service gratis. We know it is necessary, and it binds our clients to us with the strongest of ties—"Result Production."

Massengale Advertising Agency,
Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen:-

In returning the proofs of ad "with our O.K.," we wish to express our appreciation of your efforts in producing good, trade-producing copy.

We cannot help but feel that the very satisfactory results that we received from our campaign last year were largely due to your ability in placing pulling copy, in good position, in live publications.

We realize that anybody can advertise, but to advertise successfully necessitates experience, judgment and discrimination.

Allen's Princess ranges have always been sold on merit, but it has remained for you, through the medium of publicity, to make their goodness known to the buyer, and thereby multiply the demand.

We are relying on your assistance again this year in planning another selling campaign.

Yours very truly,

ALLEN MANUFACTURING CO.,

BUCHU FINE FOR DIABETES

We Eat Too Many Sweets, Which Clog Kidneys—Try Old Folks' Recipe of Buchu and Juniper.

Candy, sugar and sweets, eaten to excess, have a bad effect on the kidneys and bladder, causing Diabetes, says a well-known authority. The kidneys get clogged and sluggish and hurt. You experience scalding, burning, straining or too frequent passage of urine; forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; stitches and pains in the back; bone pains; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and despondency. Diabetes, Bright's Disease. The moment you have any of the above symptoms of Diabetes and weak kidneys get from any reliable druggist a 14-oz. bottle of Stuart's Buchu and Juniper Compound. Take a tablespoonful after meals. Drink plenty of fresh water and abstain from eating too much sugar, sweets or highly seasoned foods. Your kidneys and bladder will then act fine and natural. This is old folks' recipe for weak kidneys and bladder. It strengthens these organs and cures Diabetes, and reduces all swellings. It flushes the kidneys and neutralizes the acid and sugar of Diabetes.—(Adv)

EAGLES ELECT OFFICERS

Drum Corps Will Escort Old Guard in Carnival Parade.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie 714, met last night at their home in the Steiner-Emery building to hold their annual election of officers.

A sumptuous banquet was prepared for the occasion, to which undeniable justice was done by 269 members. After a disposition of the various viands had been accomplished by the loyal initiates, a most gratifying business session was held.

The secretary announced that the membership had been increased during the past year by an addition of 201 members, making the number of those eligible to the privileges of the order approximately 650. The order was reported to be in other respects, also, in a flourishing condition.

After the final arrangements had been made for the Eagle drum and bugle corps of fifty pieces to escort the Old Guard in the Hog and Hominy parade of Thursday, the order took up the question of establishing itself in a permanent home during the ensuing year.

Just preceding the election of officers for the year 1914-15 a contribution for Christmas gifts for the widows and orphans of the deceased members of the order was taken. The amount of $507 was collected for this purpose.

By a special dispensation of the worshipful president, it was ordered that rates of membership may now be obtained at a reduced rate for the next ninety days.

The officers elected for the next year were:

Worshipful president, Charles J. Lochridge; worshipful vice president, R. C. Schneider; worshipful chaplain, Charles Rosetta; worshipful secretary, H. A. Fischer; worshipful treasurer, R. E. Williams; worshipful inner guard, C. H. Richards; worshipful outer guard, W. H. Horter; worshipful trustee, John Y. Smith; worshipful physician, Dr. C. A. Rhodes.

DYING CONVERSATION OF LATTER DAY SAINT

Independence, Mo., December 1.—A stenographer was detailed today to attend Joseph Smith, president of the reorganized church of Latter Day Saints, that his bedside conversation may be recorded and preserved in the event of his death. Mr. Smith, who is 68 years old, was stricken with heart disease several days ago, and has been dangerously ill since. Physicians announced today that his condition remained unchanged.

Joseph Smith's six sons today were at the bedside of their father. One son, Frederick M. Smith, 37 years old, was summoned from Worcester, Mass., where he had been studying to succeed his father as president of the reorganized church of Latter Day Saints.

COTTON BEGINS TO MOVE AND THE SHOPS RESUME

Little Rock, Ark., December 1.—A considerable increase in the movement of cotton was responsible, officials said, for the resumption of operations today of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railway shops at Argenta, Ark., which shut down recently. Six hundred men resumed work.

A Gift that pleases them all!

The Bell Telephone Can Be Used by Children

A CHILD can get connection on the Bell telephone as easily as it can be done by a grown person. It serves the blind or the uneducated with equal facility.

When a child lifts the Bell telephone receiver from the hook, this simple act sets the mechanism in motion and signals the operator, who in turn does all the operating work that is necessary.

It is some satisfaction to know that your child can call for assistance on the Bell telephone in cases of emergency and secure the sympathetic and efficient assistance of trained operators.

The Bell telephone is as simple as it is marvelous. It has become so popular and familiar by reason of its invaluable service as to be called "The Guardian of the Home."

Have you a Bell Telephone in your home?

GENERAL CITY ELECTION WILL TAKE PLACE TODAY

Mayor Woodward and George E. Johnson Have Opposition From Independents.

Today is the day when voters of Atlanta are called upon to go to the polls and approve or disapprove the nominees of the white city primary for mayor, administrative officers and members of council and the aldermanic board.

There will be only two contests for the voters to decide.

In the race for mayor, James G. Woodward, who is offering for his second consecutive term since 1911, will be opposed by Samuel Kreigsberg, socialist candidate, and in the race for recorder, George E. Johnson, who is now filling the unexpired term of Recorder Nash Broyles, has opposition for the place in the person of H. C. Greenlee, an attorney.

There are no other places on the ticket contested for.

Members of the city executive committee expect the voters of the democratic party to turn out in large numbers and vote for the nominees of the primary.

The polls will open at 7 o'clock and will remain open until 6 p. m.

Polls have been located by City Clerk Walter Taylor in the following places:

First Ward—9 South Forsyth street.

Second Ward—(a) 90 South Pryor street; (b) 144 South Pryor street.

Third Ward—(a) Hunter and Fraser streets (Portwood's store); (b) South Boulevard and Fair street (E. I. White's store).

Fourth Ward—(a) Highland avenue and Boulevard (Thomas Grocery company).

Fifth Ward—(a) 748 Marietta street (West Side Barber shop); (b) Chestnut and Kennedy streets (Owl Pharmacy).

Sixth Ward—(a) Grand opera house; (b) Marietta and Tabernacle place.

Seventh Ward—(a) Lee and Gordon streets (Mellock's Pharmacy); (b) 640 Gordon street (Ector Grocery company).

Eighth Ward—(a) rear 820 Peachtree street; (b) 395 Hemphill avenue.

Ninth Ward—(a) 1 Hurt street (Hinton Drug store); (b) 24 Stovall street.

Tenth Ward—(a) Lee street (Tucker & McMurray's); (b) 227 Stewart avenue.

EXHIBITS FROM 143 COUNTIES IN PLACE

tives at the capitol there will be a great meeting of the corn club boys with speeches by Governor Slaton, Dr. Soule and others.

Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock the great parade of the corn club boys will form at the capitol. J. P. Campbell will have charge of the formation on the Hunter street side of the capitol.

At the conclusion of the parade the boys will march to the Y. M. C. A., 75 Luckie street, where they will see the new gymnasium and take a swim in the large pool.

Thursday night the corn club boys will attend the Hog and Hominy ball at the Auditorium at Gilmer and Courtland streets.

The boys will also be entitled to attend, free of charge, many moving picture shows of the city, whose management have extended them a general invitation.

UNITED STATES WARNED TO GET READY FOR WAR

Princeton, N. J., December 1.—General disarmament and universal peace will not follow the European war and the United States may have trouble with the winner, were predictions made by George B. McClellan, former mayor of New York and now professor of economic history in Princeton university, in an address here tonight.

"No matter who wins," said Professor McClellan, "it is almost certain that at some not far distant date we shall be confronted with the alternative of abandoning the Monroe doctrine or fighting to maintain it. If we fight for it in our present unprepared condition, there can be but one outcome. A triumphant and victorious Germany would have little to fear from us and while we possibly might check Japan by herself, we scarcely could hope to do so if she received help."

The cause of war, according to Professor McClellan, is the spirit of nationality which has seized all of Europe and the present war cannot be charged against any one man or any group of men.

Professor McClellan made a strong appeal that Americans awake to their present condition of unpreparedness and that immediate steps be taken to build up a national defense.

HEALTH WORK METHODS SCORED BY DR. GREEN

Jacksonville, Fla., December 1.—Further criticism of what was termed "the disjointed method which now prevails in public health work," was made here tonight by Dr. Frederick R. Green, of Chicago, in an address before the annual convention of the American Public Health association.

The speaker indorsed the suggestion made yesterday by Dr. William C. Woodward, of Washington, president of the association, that the various public health agencies now existing should be consolidated into one national organization. Economy of effort and means would be obtained by the consolidation, Dr. Green said.

Other speakers today included Dr. Charles V. Chapin, of Providence, R. I., and Dr. George H. Shaw, of the United States department of agriculture.

ATLANTA HOUSEWIVES

You Are Invited to Attend The Constitution's

Free Cooking School

AND EXHIBIT

—AT—

The (TAFT HALL) Auditorium

Every Afternoon Next Week

In a desire to be of genuine service to the housewives of Atlanta and take advantage of every possible opportunity to demonstrate that willingness, The Constitution announces today a most interesting event which will be given under the auspices of this paper for the thousands of women who are daily readers. Every woman in this city and vicinity is cordially invited to be a guest of The Constitution Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons of next week, when a celebrated cooking demonstrator and lecturer on domestic economy, will conduct a series of practical demonstrations and clever talks on the culinary art.

Mrs. Florence Austin Chase

ALL FREE

The cooking school will be free in every sense of the word; there will be no charge of admission of any nature. The Constitution wants every woman in Atlanta and vicinity to attend one or all of the cooking sessions and take advantage of this opportunity to study the quickest, easiest and most economical ways of preparing the daily meals.

Will Continue for Five Afternoons

The cooking school will continue for five afternoons only and will be held in Taft Hall, at the Auditorium. This location is convenient to every woman in Atlanta. The hall is light and well ventilated, and will be absolutely comfortable, with accommodations for five hundred women. There will be a change of program at each demonstration.

A Large Number of

will have displays at the Cooking School, and this will prove an added attraction to those who attend.

Watch each issue of The Constitution for further particulars of this paper's Big, Free Cooking School.

And remember the dates and the place—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons of next week, at Taft Hall.

Society

Bandy-Slicer.

Mrs. Harry Louis Bandy has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Sarabelle, to Mr. Joseph Samuel Slicer on Tuesday evening, December 15, at 7 o'clock, St. John's Episcopal church, Montgomery, Ala.

Mr. Slicer and his bride will be at home after January 1, at the Fraser apartments, Atlanta, Ga.

Johnson-Douglas.

The marriage of Miss Sue Bradley Johnson and Mr. Hamilton Douglas, Jr., will be an interesting event on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson, in Miami, Fla.

While the wedding will be a very quiet one, assembling only the family party, it will center a cordial social interest, both in Florida and Georgia.

The bride, who possesses beauty and pronounced charm, won the admiration of a large acquaintance in Atlanta a year ago, when she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott.

She will be cordially welcomed again as the bride of Mr. Douglas, who holds a prominent place in his profession, the law, and is popular in the social life. He has done valuable work in the most successful productions by the Players' club, and is a popular member of the social clubs.

College Park Club.

The College Park Woman's club will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the High school auditorium. An interesting and instructive program has been arranged by Mrs. D. A. Crecl and her committee on literature. Mrs. W. H. Wallace will speak interestingly on "The Silent Influence of the Printed Page," and Miss Annie May Young on "What the College Park Children Are Reading." Mrs. Curtis Arnold North, expression teacher of Cox college, will give a reading and delightful music will be furnished. This being an open meeting, every woman in College Park is cordially invited to attend.

Tea at the Rectory.

Thursday afternoon, from 4 until 6 o'clock, the Woman's Guild of All Saints' church will give a tea at the rectory, 15 West North avenue, the occasion a special compliment to the members of the church who have recently come to Atlanta and with whom the members of the congregation have not generally met. Only informal invitations will be issued; members of the church are invited and are urged to extend verbal invitation to those strangers of whom they know, and to make the occasion a happy and compensating one. There will be music and refreshments.

Pupils' Recital.

Pupils of Miss Margaret Elizabeth Stillwell will give a piano recital this afternoon at 3 o'clock at her studio.

Those taking part will be Misses Callie Orme, Louise Hartley, Elizabeth Wesley, Emma Laura Wesley, Louise Etzel.

To Miss Dickey.

Miss Glenn Dickey, of Augusta, arrives Thursday to visit Miss Josephine Mobley, and she will be a charming figure at the debutante gayeties.

Miss Mobley, Mrs. Sims Bray and others will entertain in her honor.

Afternoon Bridge.

Mrs. J. C. Beam entertained at bridge yesterday at home, and a delightful hospitality was expressed.

Her guests were Mrs. J. B. Hockaday, Mrs. C. S. Atchison, Mrs. J. K. Gilder, Mrs. Sims Bray, Miss Jennie Mobley, Mrs. Charles Scipio, Mrs. George Dexter, Mrs. W. L. Cosgrove, Mrs. Wiltshire Riley, Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. J. T. Billups, Mrs. J. E. C. Pedder, Mrs. E. W. McCarrey, Mrs. John Ulmeyer, Mrs. J. W. Pearse, Mrs. Cliff Hatcher, Mrs. J. C. Hunter, Mrs. Robert Hunt, Mrs. Bulow Campbell.

American Beauty roses, made a brilliant flash of color in the neutral tinted decoration of the reception rooms, and in the dining room a handsomely appointed table was decorated in pink, the centerpiece a low Japanese design in Killarney roses. The guests were seated there for a delicious repast after the game.

The prizes were pretty novelties from Florida and California—a hand-painted book rack, a Japanese book mark in ivory and beadwork, and a silver pencil.

Mrs. Beam wore a becoming gown of white crepe de chine.

Mrs. Campbell Entertains.

One of the prettiest of the debutante luncheons was that given yesterday by Mrs. J. Bulow Campbell in compliment to Miss Isoline Campbell and her guest, Miss Mary Orme, of New Orleans.

Invited to meet them were Misses Rosalie Davis, Helen McCarty, Marion Strickland, Dorothy Hilsman, Hoyt Brown, Louise Broyles, Isobel Robinson, Elizabeth Bailey of Griffin, Lawson Hines, Harriet Calhoun.

The table centerpiece was a handsome filigree basket of full blown pink roses, the handle tied with pink tulle, and little French butterflies in pink were poised on the flowers and the tulle. The silver candlesticks were tied with pink tulle bows, and the heart-shaped candies and ices were pink.

Mrs. Campbell wore a French gown of black brocade, combined with black and white lace, and with finish in rose color.

Dinner Party.

Mr. Howard Conway will entertain a party of thirty at the dinner dance at the Georgian Terrace Friday, December 11.

To Miss Bailey.

Mrs. Ewell Gay entertained at the first of a series of afternoon teas yesterday at home, the occasion a pretty compliment to Miss Laura Bailey, of Griffin, the guest of Mrs. Daniel S. Harris. The guests were twenty of the debutante set.

They were received in the living room, which had tasteful decorations in yellow chrysanthemums.

In the dining room the centerpiece of a handsomely appointed tea table was a silver basket of red roses. The candlesticks had red shades, and small silver baskets were filled with red and white candies. Silver plates were filled with red and white striped sandwiches.

Mrs. Gay wore a becoming gown of old blue charmeuse and chiffon, with a trimming of real lace. She was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Edward Gay, jr., and Miss Caroline Nicoleon.

Miss Bailey wore a becoming pink charmeuse, with cunic of pink net.

Mrs. Gay will be hostess at two informal teas during the Christmas holidays.

Tea-Dance at Driving Club.

The regular tea-dance will assemble many bright parties at the Driving club this afternoon.

Among those entertaining will be Miss Mary Rice, jr., and Mrs. H. L. Scott, Mr. Otey Mitchell, Mr. Cator Woolford, Mr. T. H. Lyon.

For Miss McEvoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Brutus Clay entertained eight guests at dinner last evening at home for their visitor, Miss Kittie McEvoy, of Baltimore.

A basket of red roses was in the center of the tables, and the candle shades and other pretty details were in red.

Mrs. Clay was gowned in black crepe de chine, and Miss McEvoy wore black satin and tulle. After dinner the party attended the dance at the Capital City club.

Burroughs Nature Club.

The Burroughs Nature club holds its next meeting at 5 p. m., Friday, December 4, at the Joel Chandler Harris home, on Gordon street.

Friends of birds and nature lovers are cordially invited to participate in the Arbor day celebration, which begins at 3:30.

Dinner-Dance.

One of the most enjoyable of the informal weekly dinner-dances of the season was last evening at the Capital City club. There were a number of congenial parties having dinner together and later they were joined by others who came to take part in the dancing.

Informal Bridge Party.

Mrs. Sheppard W. Foster will entertain at three tables of bridge Saturday afternoon at her home on Peachtree street in compliment to Mrs. Potter, of South America, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Nym McCullough. The guests will include friends of Mrs. Potter when Atlanta was her home.

W. C. T. U.

The Atlanta Frances Willard Woman's Christian Temperance union will hold its regular session Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Sunday school room of Trinity church. The members are urged to be present. Visitors will be cordially welcomed to all meetings of this union.

Matinee Party.

Mrs. Norman Sharp will entertain at a box party this afternoon at the Atlanta for Miss Margaret Gage, of Birmingham, the guest of Miss Mary King. Invited to meet the honor guest are Miss Lawson Hines, Miss Morton, of Tennessee; Miss Mary Moore, Miss Mal Horine, Miss Eva Bell Gregg, Miss Josephine Mobley, Miss King and Mrs. James T. Williams.

The party will have tea at Mrs. Sharp's home on West Peachtree street after the matinee.

Suffrage Tea.

The members of the ninth ward, of the Fulton and DeKalb county branches of the Equal Suffrage league, gave a delightful tea at the home of Mrs. William Rawlings, 21 Oakdale road, Druid Hills, Monday afternoon. It was a strikingly representative assemblage and the members are receiving congratulations on the enthusiasm and interest manifested in their district. The next tea will be given at the home of Mrs. Jack Stewart, 71 North Moreland avenue.

How to Shed a Rough, Chapped or Blotchy Skin

This is what you should do to shed a bad complexion: Spread evenly over the face, covering every inch of skin, a thin layer of ordinary mercolized wax. Let this stay on over night, washing off next morning. Repeat daily until your complexion is as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. This result is inevitable, no matter how soiled or withered the complexion. The wax literally absorbs the filmy surface skin, exposing the lovely young skin beneath. The process is entirely harmless, so little of the skin coming off at a time. Mercolized wax is obtainable at any drug store; one ounce usually suffices. It's a veritable wonder-worker for rough, chapped, reddened, blotchy, pimpled, freckled or sallow skin.

Pure powdered saxolite is excellent for a wrinkled skin. An ounce of it dissolved in a half-pint witch hazel makes a refreshing wash-lotion. This renders the skin quite firm and smooth; indeed, the very first application erases the finer lines; the deeper ones soon follow.—(adv.)

Constitution Invites Ladies To Its Free Cooking School; Opens at Taft Hall Monday

The Constitution takes pleasure in announcing that beginning next Monday, December 7, and continuing through the week until Friday, it has arranged to give to the housewives of Atlanta and vicinity one of the cleverest and best demonstrations in the culinary art ever given in this section.

These cooking demonstrations will be absolutely free and every woman is not only invited to attend, but a cordial welcome will be extended to her to come and witness the scientific and up-to-date cooking methods employed by an expert demonstrator and to take advantage of the opportunities offered.

Taft Hall Seemed.

Taft hall, at the Auditorium, has been secured for the week and the demonstrations will be held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons between 2 and 5 o'clock. The Constitution believes these demonstrations will prove a public benefit and an individual pride to every citizen of the community.

Mrs. Florence Austin Chase, of Chicago, has been secured to conduct the cooking school. Mrs. Chase is one of the foremost authorities on home economics, a lecturer of national reputation and a woman of rare culture and attainments. She is a graduate of the Chicago university and has lectured on domestic economy and given demonstrations in all the larger cities of this country and has everywhere been greeted with large and enthusiastic audiences. The demand for her lecture course has grown to such proportions that it is now an exceedingly difficult matter to get a date with her. This paper has been carrying on negotiations with her manager for a great many weeks and it takes great pleasure in announcing a definite date has been secured.

Will Vary Lectures.

Mrs. Chase will vary her lectures and demonstrations at each session, covering within the week a full course in cookery, and it is to be a full, fluent and best course of instruction from her interesting stock of rare experiences, made as she prepares the food on the stage in the presence of her guests. It is best to arrange your matters so that you can be present at all the sessions. Of course if this is not convenient it will pay you and prove interesting if you can be present for one afternoon.

In addition to the demonstrations, many of the local merchants and supply houses will have interesting displays of their goods artistically arranged in the booths. This will prove alone attractive enough to make a visit to Taft hall next week worth your while.

Remember the dates—every afternoon next week except Saturday. Make the place—Taft hall—and plan your time so that you will not miss a single lecture or demonstration.

Expert Dancers to Perform At Hog and Hominy Carnival

Macon will have her representation in the Hog-and-Hominy carnival ball, Thursday evening at the Auditorium, when one of the programs of features dancers Miss Blackshear, of Macon, and Captain Palmer, of that city, will dance in Chinese pajamas, the "Pa Toa," one of the latest fad dances.

Miss Blackshear is an artist, having studied for two years in New York under the best masters. She is the granddaughter of the late Ambrose Baber, of Macon, who was at the time of his death United States minister to France. At a recent entertainment of the daughters of the American Revolution, Miss Blackshear made an exhibit of the gown worn by her grandmother at the French court, during her grandfather's regime, also the jewels worn on the same occasion.

She comes to Atlanta to dance at the carnival ball as a special compliment to Mrs. William Lawson Peel, and her partner, Captain Palmer, a prominent business man of the Central City, comes as a compliment to the same lady.

The group of Atlanta artists to participate will give feature work. The dancers at the Piedmont hotel will give the Pavlowa Gavote. Miss Moulton and Mr. Bell, of the Georgian Terrace, will dance a group of dances of their own. The program of professionals will consume only about thirty minutes, so that the general ball and merriment will begin early in the evening.

The Grecian dandies will be escorted by the court scene, when the king, queen and court of the carnival will be introduced with appropriate ceremonies. Dr. Wallace Reid Turner, as the lord high chamberlain, Mr. Frank Spain, the crier and King of the revels, and the entrance of her court will be a beautiful incident of the interesting occasion.

The ball will be in every sense a picturesque one, and one of informal and democratic lines. Costume "de regle" is not required, and though many have signified their intention of appearing evening dress, it is not obligatory, and on the floor will be seen the afternoon and day costumes among men and women as any others.

It is the wish of the promoters of the ball that a carnival spirit in every way prevail, and that people be free to enjoy themselves accordingly. The comment has been justly made that Atlanta has not enough of real municipal recreation, and the carnival ball, it is hoped, will initiate a season each year which will bring people from all quarters to enjoy themselves, and give Atlanta her carnival time as truly as New Orleans and Mobile have theirs.

To Miss Tyson.

Miss Isabella Tyson, of Knoxville, who is visiting Miss Esther Smith, was guest of honor on Tuesday night at the dinner given by Colonel Willis Ragan at his home, the occasion one of elegance and enjoyment.

Covers were laid for twenty-eight and the table was beautiful in its appointment. The centerpiece was a lovely arrangement of ferns and lilies and white and green were the colors repeated in effective detail. The place cards were hand-painted forget-me-nots in verse, inclosing the names.

In the party were Miss Tyson, Miss Smith, Mrs. Albert Thornton, Misses Margaret Frank, Harriet Calhoun, Emmeline Campbell, Mary Orme of New Orleans, Margaret Hawkins, Frances Godfrey, Isabel Robinson, Margaret Traylor, Dorothy High, Jessie McKee, Rosie May Ottley, Mr. Willard McBurney, Mr. Osborne, Messrs. Drama League Meets.

The Drama league at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon presented an unusually interesting program at Gilbert's comedy, "Sweet Nell," was read by a group of the members, Mr. Merriett Monday and will last through Wednesday. tel, which was used in a short time ago as the cafe. The exhibit will begin by a group of the members, Mr. Merriett Monday and will last through Wednesday.

Meeting Postponed.

The Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, will not hold its meeting Thursday afternoon on account of the carnival parade which takes place at that time, but will hold the regular meeting the following Thursday.

Dancers at the Ansley.

Mr. W. Jay Kelley and Mr. John Donald Brian, two of New York's expert society dancers and teachers to New York's "400," have just arrived in Atlanta and are stopping at the Ansley.

To Miss Carpenter.

RED CROSS SEALS WILL GO ON SALE DECEMBER 10

Committee Hopes to Dispose of One Million and Half This Year.

The Red Cross Christmas seal is here! A million and a half of these little "bullets" in the war being waged against tuberculosis are to be sold in Atlanta between now and Christmas at one cent each. One death in every seven in Georgia is caused by tuberculosis, and every 1,000 of these seals that are sold to the public means a life saved.

The stamp has taken a new form this season. Last year it was oblong in shape, with a picture of a reindeer-sleigh, carrying Santa Claus over icy fields. This season the stamp is square, with two red crosses at either side at the top and a big Santa in the center. Below are the greetings: "Merry Christmas" and "Happy New Year."

Headquarters for the stamps were been opened on the ground floor of the Gould building, in charge of Miss H. E. Clarke. Stamps may be obtained there in any quantity between now and the time the street sales begin—December 10. George A. Simms is this year's chairman of the general committee having the stamps in charge, and he has an office in the Chamber of Commerce building. Associated with him on the general comission and advisory board are the following:

Hugh M. Willet, head of the Atlanta branch of the Anti-Tuberculosis society: Howard S. Cole, Kendall Weisiger, Robert J. Lowry, Rabbi Marx, Mrs. Fred Hodgson, Ivan E. Allen, the Rev. Father McOscar, the Rev. W. W. Memminger, Dr. J. E. Sommerfield, Wilmer L. Moore, George McCarty, Sr., and Mrs. Nellie Peters Black.

The Federation of Women's Clubs of Atlanta was the intial organization to officially take supplies of the Red Cross seals. Thousands of the seals were sent Tuesday to the headquarters of the club for distribution among the many women's organizations affiliated with the federation. These stamps will not be placed on public sale, but will be disposed of among friends of the individual members of each of the organizations taking them.

JACKSON RETURNS, AND BRINGS LIFE PARTNER WITH HIM

After quietly leaving the city for a week and giving none of his friends an inkling of his whereabouts, Robert R. Jackson, Jr., a well-known young Atlantan, son of Judge R. R. Jackson, returned to Atlanta yesterday and surprised his parents, as well as every one else, by introducing his bride, formerly Miss Helyn Dobbs, of Nashville.

The marriage was the culmination of a pretty little romance of only six weeks' duration. Miss Dobbs was visiting in Atlanta in September when young Jackson met her for the first time. It was evidently a case of love at first sight. After her return to Nashville, the mail carrier was kept busy. Finally young Jackson could stand the separation no longer, but went to Nashville to win his bride, telling no one of his mission.

The recent Miss Dobbs, now Mrs. Jackson, was one of the most beautiful girls in Nashville, 18, and, as Jackson himself admits, "quite a creation." She was the daughter of the late A. H. Dobbs, who, up to the time of his death, was president of the Nashville Gas company.

Mr. Jackson is at present a student in the Atlanta Law school, and is also connected with his father's law office. The bride and groom are now making their home at 230 South Boulevard.

Friday Is Arbor Day; Schools of the State Asked to Plant Trees

Friday is Arbor day.

Superintendant of Education M. L. Brittain has sent out notices requesting all the schools in the state to celebrate the day by the planting of trees and with appropriate ceremonies.

The idea of school children participating in an annual Arbor day, not solely for the purpose of beautifying the school grounds, but also for the purpose of replenishing the country's timber supply, was originated by E. O. Northrup, secretary of the Connecticut board of education, in 1865. The honor of originating the American Arbor day, however, belongs to J. Sterling Morton, a member of the Cleveland cabinet. In 1872, when he was a member of the Nebraska board of education, he had established the Nebraska Arbor day. That year more than 1,000,000 trees were planted in the state of Nebraska, and Mr. Morton lived to see Arbor day observed in practically every state in the union.

ELKS TO HONOR DEAD.

Lodge of Sorrow to Be Held at Forsyth Sunday Afternoon.

Hon. Roland Ellis, of Macon, will deliver the memorial address of the Elks' Lodge of Sorrow, which takes place at the Forsyth theater next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The first Sunday in December of each year is designated by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the United States of America as the day on which each of the 1,250 Elks' lodges in the United States shall commemorate in sacred session the memories of their departed brothers. These services are held simultaneously in every city in which there is located an Elks' lodge—at which eulogies and addresses are delivered perpetuating the memory of the deceased brothers and exemplifying the motto of the order, "The faults of our brothers we write upon the sand, their virtues on tablet of love and memory."

The Memorial day committee, composed of J. S. Moss, chairman; G. C. James, S. F. Porter, A. Y. Dunn, S. Donalson, Hugh Cardoza and Boyd Lowery, has arranged for Atlanta Lodge No. 78 the program.

SINGERS ARE ENGAGED FOR ANSLEY CONCERTS

The management of the Ansley hotel has announced the engagement of two operatic singers, who, with the hotel orchestra, will present daily concerts that can be enjoyed by those on the mezzanine floor in the lobby.

The singers engaged for the concerts are Miss Mamie Clyburn, contralto, and Edward K. Armstrong, basso cantante. A specialty will be made of Sunday evening concerts.

POSTAL SAVINGS SHOW BIG GAIN IN AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—The postal savings department of the Americus postoffice shows the remarkable increase of 700 per cent in deposit account for the current year, as compared with last year, Postmaster Frederick Davenport announced this morning.

This excellent gain in deposits reflects the thrift of Americus people and their desire for absolute safety. Many of the depositors in the postal bank lost heavily in the wrecking of the Americus National bank recently, which maintained a savings department with M. M. Lowrey as cashier and S. D. Wheatley, Jr., assistant cashier.

Think This Over

Many men and women have called on the business houses of Atlanta soliciting donations and aid for unfortunates among us. The one reason most often advanced is, "The bread winner of that family is out of work."

There is a simple and effective way to remedy this situation so far as Atlanta and our neighbors and friends are concerned. The unemployed in our city and state can all get work at good wages if our home people will buy and use, whenever possible, the products we make in our own state. The surest way to lend a helping hand to the workers in our towns and cities is to patronize Home Industries. This provides employment and furnishes a means of livelihood to the men, women and children for whom charity is soliciting donations.

We can provide our people at a just price, goods of the best quality and of equal merit, with those procurable elsewhere.

Eisele & Hays could lift the burden of several of your neighbors if Atlanta women had no illogical preference for "imported" tape in their dresses.

Aragon Shirt Factory, Radium Hosiery Mills, Red Seal Shoe Factory could fill pay envelopes for 500 or 1000 more workers if our men realized the "good business" in eternally demanding the Home Product.

Atlanta Stoves, Miss Dixie Flour, Stone's Cakes, Kennesaw Biscuits, Cotton Bloom Shortening, Cornfield Hams, Eureka Coffee, could add thousands of dollars a week to buy the necessities of life in hundreds of homes in Atlanta if Atlanta's housekeepers demanded their products.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York city by 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had: Holaling's News Stand, Broadway and Forty-second street (Times building corner), Thirty-eighth street and Broadway and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway.

A JOLT FROM TEXAS.

"Why there should be any hesitation about issuing school bonds in Atlanta we cannot understand. In Houston no school bond issue is ever defeated."

These sentences are extracts from an editorial in The Houston (Texas) Post, reproduced today. The last one is a jolt and conveys a veritable slogan that ought to be made a part of the creed of Atlanta and of every other progressive American municipality.

Provided the need for them has been established and the honesty of their expenditure unquestioned, there are two objects no community can ever turn down for bond issues.

They are: Health and schools!

Upon health and education is builded the bedrock of any community's welfare and its future. If either one is neglected, all other ambitions and achievements are futile.

The need for the rehabilitation of Atlanta's schools is unquestioned. That the bond proceeds will be adequately administered is proved by the fact that every dollar spent for schools in the $3,000,000 issue was abundantly justified by results. It is possible to pick flaws, of course, in one or two of the new buildings. That is due to the city's abominable and cross roads policy of building cheaply for the moment instead of for the needs of the future. As The Post says, it fervently prays Houston has outlived that horribly expensive orgie of "economy" in its history. The Constitution echoes the prayer for Atlanta, with the plain statement that any "saving" that is effected in the future will be effected at the cost of Atlanta's children and the prestige of the school system.

Houston had been drifting along in the haphazard, makeshift municipal manner that has characterized Atlanta. Houston began to find the cost ruinous, in detriment to progress and greater cost of delayed improvements when emergency finally compelled them. So Houston got busy and voted, recently, a bond issue in excess of $3,000,000, a liberal slice of which was devoted to the rehabilitation of the school system of the city.

Atlanta can learn a lesson from the Texas municipality.

Here are the terms of the crisis:

Unless by next September provision is made for remedying radical shortcomings in the city's school plant, 650 boys and girls will be deprived of an education in the two high schools alone; grammar schools all over the city will be either hopelessly congested or turning away pupils; others still will be firetraps and insanitary holes.

It is a genuine emergency that knocks at Atlanta's door.

No wonder the mothers and wives, the representatives of the laboring people and the masses have made response.

And, remember, Atlanta is larger and richer than Houston, and has $7,000,000 idle borrowing capacity.

THIS PLAN LOADED.

The state department has announced a comprehensive plan to estimate world consumption of cotton in 1915 and production in 1914 in the countries outside of the United States.

The idea was undoubtedly inspired by good motives, but it is as well to realize that it is loaded at both ends. It may be an instrument either for much good or for havoc.

Admittedly, there must be some basis of estimate of what the world is going to consume in 1915. But the task is a herculean one and beset with difficulties that are many and positively unique.

For instance, probable consumption will largely be determined by the duration and intensity of the European war. If that struggle ends in the spring, which is unlikely, there will be a greater demand for cotton and greater activity in cotton than if it continues indefinitely.

Now, the state department, whatever its other gifts, possesses neither prescience nor omniscience. It very probably knows very little more that is definite about the closing date of the war than the humblest reader of The Constitution. All it can do is to receive statements from chancelleries, ascertain as far as possible the financial rating of the combatants and make a shrewd guess.

All this is said, not by way of disparagement, but by way of warning. The department is under obligations to the farmer, if it really is bent on an estimate, to take the utmost possible scruples to insure reasonable accuracy. The farmers, on the other hand, are under obligations to themselves, their families and the south, to analyze the estimate of the department in the light of their own intelligence and apply the result prayerfully.

We want all the help we can get from the departments, its experts and their world-wide correspondents. But we need, also, to guard against deluding ourselves into costly error one way or the other.

A STATE AWAKENING.

One of the remarkable indications of the awakening of Georgia to her opportunities is afforded by the discussion following the publication of an article by Mrs. Nonie Peters Black, in last Sunday's Constitution, on the apparent lack of home markets for Georgia oats, peavine hay and hogs. Several commission merchants of Atlanta, interviewed on Mrs. Black's charges with regard to oats and hay, disclose a peculiar opportunity and obligation for Georgia farmers and the sources of agricultural education in this state.

Among these business men there was some diversity of opinion as to whether peavine hay would find a ready cash market in the city. But they were practically a unit in declaring that it was one of the best foods known for fattening. They agreed that stock fed it on the farm bring top market prices.

This bears out what The Constitution has numberless times asserted—that on each Georgia farm with anything approaching range space there should be as many beef cattle as the farmer can maintain, fattening for market. The verdict of these commission men, which is borne out by testimony from experts of the federal and state departments of agriculture, means that Georgia ought to be one of the greatest cattle states in the country. Moreover, Georgia should find a big market for this product in the as-yet-typical western cattle states.

The commission men warn the farmers that one reason there is no readier market for oats in Atlanta is that the Georgia farmer will not be as careful either about producing or putting up his product as the western farmer. This indictment has been brought before. It is one relatively easy of remedy. If our sources of agricultural education will steadily guide the farmer in the production of oats, and if the press and his own societies will persistently warn him about its wrapping, there should be no difficulty in finding here a market.

The things that stand out are: (1) There is a first-class market for Georgia peavine hay, marketing it through stock and, in some cases, direct. (2) Georgia can produce oats competing with the western variety. Those two are the only facts that matter. Once the circumstances are adjusted, the question of finding markets will adjust itself automatically.

In this connection, we are informed by state and federal sources that the laws touching the inspection of dressed hogs and beef are now more liberal than set forth by Mrs. Black, and should afford encouragement to the farmer. There is no federal or state inspection of meats on the farm. Only the express companies or the railroads are required to exact of the farmer a certificate to the effect that the animal was healthy when killed, and that the parts to be shipped are free from disease. In such cities as Atlanta, Savannah, Augusta, Macon, Columbus, etc., there are specific ordinances dealing with these subjects. But even here there is no insuperable barrier to a market, since the farmer can familiarize himself with the legal requirements of his market and comply with them.

In the matter of the marketing of small packages of meat, such as hams and bacon and sausage, one of our correspondents strikes the bull's-eye when he says:

"First, grow the right kind of goods. Then you can be absolutely sure of a market in the city if you advertise."

Discussion of this range and nature is constructive. It is particularly appropriate upon the threshold of a season when the south must practice new lessons, or relearn old ones, in agriculture.

If the weather man would win out he should haste to give Christmas shopping a place in the Sun.

As to Vera Cruz, the question is: How long will it take Carranza to undo the good work of the American occupation?

Only the impatient Grouchtown citizens smash their plates at the very minute the country is preparing to pass Prosperity around.

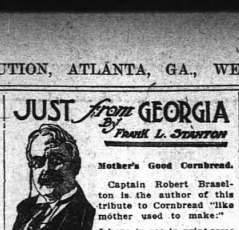
Certainly there is a silver lining to the war cloud when so many people have money to bet on the probable duration of the war.

The kaiser made nine speeches to the troops in as many hours, and they stood it so well they should be in line for iron crosses.

With a war cost of $55 a second, England must have more money than castles to burn.

JUST FROM GEORGIA

By Frank L. Stanton



Mother's Good Cornbread.

Captain Robert Braselton is the author of this tribute to Cornbread "like mother used to make:"

I hope to see in print some day—though it can't be done, 'tis said—
A worthy epic written on the subject of cornbread;
Not the fancy goods they advertise, that's nothing else but cake,
But the good, old-fashioned cornbread like mother used to bake.

One kind she had with turnip greens or collards, crisp and sweet,
Boiled with home-cured bacon, fit for a king to eat;
If company came, no matter when, in cotton goods or silk,
She always had a pitcherful of good, fresh buttermilk.

In season when we killed the hogs and stewed the cracklin's down,
She put some in the new cornmeal and baked it nice and brown;
For supper then, we had a feast, and then we went to bed
To dream of Mother's cold sweet milk and good old cracklin' bread.

It makes me hungry now to think, and I view with much alarm,
How things are changing all around since I was on the farm;
And this is why I long to see the world's wide tables spread
With dishes made by the loved of old and Mother's good cornbread.

Editorial Wealth.

Mr. Edison says "we are all too rich," and the editor of The Searcy Times makes this comment:

"Yes, dorggone our plutocratic times; just yesterday in looking around for safe investment we put five cents in a ham sandwich and fifteen cents in a negotiation whereby the spinach covering on our face was removed, thus complying with the city injunction that all brush and rubbish be kept cleaned off our premises. Tomorrow an immoral with the laundryman will be closed up when we quietly transfer to him all our possessions in a thin dime for our only shirt which he has been soaking in scalding water for three days, thereby showing our co-operation with the board of health. It's great to be rich, and we hope the time will ever come when we get too parsimonious to keep our millions in circulation."

The Land of Plenty.

It is plain that the Southwest Georgia poets are living on the fat o' the land. Here is the general chorus in that section:

"Dollars and dimes,
Dollars and dimes"—
Better than all
Of the musical chimes;
Poets have never
Such silvery rhymes
As ring from the music
Of dollars and dimes.

"The Grasping'est Man."

Uncle Jerry Rusk writes to The Kansas City Times that he has at last succeeded in locating "the grasping'est man he ever knowed:"

"Somebody told him once that when he breathed he took in oxygen and gave out carbon. One day a whole day tryin' to find out which of them two gases cost the most if you had to buy 'em. He wanted to know whether he was makin' or losin' money when he breathed."

Ballad of Galveston Flood.

Dr. J. E. Ray, who is a Methodist minister, of Orlando, Fla., is the author of "The Ballad of Galveston Flood," a poem which appeared some time since in a leading English magazine, and which has been copied in newspapers in Australia, South Africa and India. The poem has strength and beauty:

"The storm steamed out 'of the east and the south
As hot as a belch from Mount Pelee's mouth;
Strange winds all night from the Antilles
Ravilled and tore the orange trees.

"From pillared palace, hut's quaking sod,
Galveston cried and cried to God.
From the lurching rampart's gun-flecked line
Where the surf in a wild, white wonder-shine
Dashes to whelm and undermine."

Many notable lyrics from Dr. Ray's pen have appeared in leading publications. His work is familiar to readers of the Georgia press.

No Choice.

As the poet, Tennyson D'Apaft, sees it it's a toss-up between the Mexican factions:

"Why all this row in Mexico;
This whoop-te-do and pother?
One patriot is just as good
And just as bad as t'other."

One Way With Joy.

"One thing I like about genuine Joy," says a Georgia philosopher, "and that is he never gits angry enough to break his banjo over old Tribulation's head."

The Holland Letter

Jacob H. Schiff and Bernard Baruch, private bankers of New York, whose subscription to the so-called cotton pool fund of $100,000,000 made it possible to complete that fund so far as the cotton-producing states are concerned, are understood to have made the subscriptions of their own motion. They were not appealed to, although, of course, they were brought from time to time in touch with those who were trying to establish a pool. Both knew that there might be some risk, or at least a considerable time in which their capital thus invested would be tied up. Both were familiar with certain legal opinions which seemed to cast doubt upon the legality of the undertaking, in view of the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law. Both overlooked, however, these considerations, as did the managers of the banks of New York city, who contributed approximately $50,000,000 to the pool. The higher considerations which justified this action were that it was for the benefit not only of the cotton planters of the south, but probably for the whole country, if the dangerous and difficult cotton situation were relieved. No one believed that in the future any attempt would be made to test the legality of the cotton pool undertaking. Certainly none will be made while the present administration is in power, and public sentiment would not support any proceedings aimed at this beneficial pool at any time hereafter.

Mr. Schiff has gained a national and also possesses an international reputation not only as a private banker, but also as a man whose banking business, vast as it is, has not limited his view or dwarfed his understanding of the functions which should be established between large financial interests and the public. His own career is one of the best illustrations of the opportunities which the United States offers to young men who have no other capital than energy, industry and good health and no influence but the relations of a good citizen. When Mr. Schiff came to New York, a little after the close of our civil war, he was employed as a bank clerk, and lived upon a moderate salary. His promotion was inevitable, because, in addition to the ability with which he discharged his regular duties, he was occupied in all his leisure moments in a study of the principles and philosophy of the banking business. Not long after he was made a member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., he gained first, local, and afterwards national, reputation by his activity in many philanthropies and by the courage with which he sometimes made public his views, which were not always in accord with the financial administration at Washington. He created a profound impression when at a meeting of the chamber of commerce, several years ago, he pointed out some of the dangers that lurked in the treasury department administration of public funds which were utilized for the purpose of aiding in the moving of the crops. That purpose Mr. Schiff approved, and he had in a private way contributed his approval through the assistance which his own bank gave at that time to facilitate crop movements. It was what he regarded as a dangerous stretch of the discretionary authority of the secretary of the treasury that he criticised publicly.

It has often been observed that in response to public opinion, and sometimes before that opinion is formulated into law, Mr. Schiff took such action for his bank as made it clear that he respected reasonable and widespread public opinion.

Yet the banking house of which he was the head, at the time when there were country-wide accusations against the establishment of a money power and credit monopoly in New York, was placed in the list of institutions which then controlled money and credit.

The First Answer.

The first good opportunity of answering these allegations came when Mr. Schiff Davison asked and then urged Paul Warburg, who was a partner in the house in which Mr. Schiff was the head, to become a member of the federal reserve board. Then, again, when the city of New York was in dire extremity, in August of this year, Mr. Schiff, with the co-operation of Mr. Morgan, organized the syndicate of New York banks which agreed to furnish $42,000,000 in gold with which the credit of New York abroad should be maintained. He was also of aid in the organization which was called the gold pool of $100,000,000, which was of value in enabling American merchants and manufacturers to secure means with which they could pay their current obligations abroad.

Mr. Baruch is one of the younger personalities of the financial district who have achieved success. His name was familiar in one in financial circles, but not until he voluntarily came forward with a contribution which, together with that made by Mr. Schiff, made up the deficit of three millions in the $100,000,000 cotton pool did his name become a familiar one to the public. He, too, in his career showed what opportunity, if it be accepted, means for a young man. About the time President Harding was first inaugurated he was an inconspicuous clerk. Today he is ranged among the great forces of the Wall street district, and he has gained that reputation without the slightest smirch upon his character, personal or business. Mr. Baruch is a man of a liberal education, has gained distinction for intellectual ability and for high achievement. His brother, Dr. Simon Baruch, ranks among the first as one of the foremost members of the medical profession of the world.

The Coming London Conference.

Sir George Paish and his associate of the British treasury, Basil B. Blackett, have been recalled to London. The London bankers are anxious to get better information respecting the proposition that there be an international credit of $100,000,000 established as an emergency measure in London than they were able to obtain from the concise cable dispatches sent by Sir George. In the Wall street district, it has within a few days been known that that credit is to be regarded as an emergency measure somewhat similar in its purpose to the precaution which was established when the so-called emergency currency law was enacted by congress. What Sir George and Henry P. Davison has gone for the purpose of representing the American bankers' committee at the conferences which will be held in London with representatives of the British treasury.

A few years ago, Mr. Davison was named the representative of the American banking syndicate which expected to take part in the financing of the proposed Chinese national loan that might amount possibly to $300,000,000. When the representatives of the five other nations which were to take part met with Mr. Davison at Paris he was unanimously chosen as chairman of the conferences. It has long been known that it was in great measure due to the tact and skill with which he presided at these conferences that at last a satisfactory agreement was reached.

This plan was abandoned, so far as the United States was concerned, because the present administration at Washington thought it the better part to reserve the action of the bankers by the previous administration, which was one of approval and moral support. Now, again, Mr. Davison goes agroad as the representative of American bankers in conferences which are to be held with the British treasury and presumably with the chancellor of the exchequer, which there may be opportunity for him which will make it possible to establish international financial relations that may be of the highest value both to Great Britain and to the United States. Yet Mr. Davison is still a young man, and a little over twenty years ago was a clerk in a small bank in Bridgeport, Conn.

THE COLLEGE ROOTER.

BY GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Another football season has ended and the work of the college rooter has, as usual, attracted the admiring attention of all specialists in high explosives and scientific disorder.

While the rooter had previously been brought by slow degrees to a perfection which had struck the owners of foreign lungs and larynxes with awe, marked improvements have been made once more during the season which has just quieted down. The new Harvard, Michigan and Minnesota types of pandemonium emitters are the most powerful ever turned loose upon an enemy, and have created terrible havoc. The 1914 rooter has a chest caliber of 14 inches and a muzzle velocity of over three hundred words a second with a range, on favored occasions, of almost five miles. He is automatic, loading and firing himself with tremendous rapidity, and cools easily by taking a drink between quarters.

These rooters are now installed on concrete bases in all the up-to-date college amphitheaters and when they have once gotten the range the effect of their remarks is terrible. Three Harvard yells blasted the ball out of Michigan's possession twice last month, when said ball was within a few yards of the goal, and during the Wisconsin-Chicago game no scores were made because it was impossible for either team to hear the signals. The recoil is also terrific and very dangerous. * Several rooters of large caliber have recoiled into the laps of noncombatants during the past season after emitting a two-ton remark and have damaged said neutrals almost beyond repair.

Many new and unspeakably powerful forms of expression have been tried out during the past few months. The new yells contain words of as many as eight syllables and a single shrapnel yell, if exploded near a prayer meeting, would annihilate it with horror. There have been many changes to the effect that the Harvard rooters fired blunt remarks at the Yale supporters last week, thus violating The Hague articles concerning dum-dum bullets. However, it is charged by the Harvard men that the pointed remarks used by the Yale rooters were even more deadly owing to their superior penetration.

The rooter is popular because of his extreme mobility. Seven rooters can be transported to the game in one automobile before a football game, though it is often difficult to haul one rooter more than ten miles a night after a victory, using both taxicabs and patrol wagons.

GEORGIA PRODUCERS NEED TO STANDARDIZE

Editor Constitution: Pursuant to discussion of the sale of farm products resulting from diversification movement, the Griffin and Spalding county board of trade has had this matter up actively for sixty days; in fact, ever since the Atlanta purchasing agent announced that he would purchase feed for the stock belonging to the city of Atlanta from Georgia producers, "provided it would pass the same inspection as to quality with that he has for years been purchasing from the northern markets," or words to that effect.

We immediately took up this matter of quality with the state authorities and from the federal department of agriculture and from Director R. J. H. DeLoach, of the Georgia Experiment station, we learned that the Georgia producer is equal in food values to the products of any other state, and in some respects better.

Subsequently we laid these matters before a meeting of Spalding county planters, with the view of ascertaining why Spalding county hay and Spalding county oats would not sell in competition with what are termed "western" products of the same character. Then we struck the keynote, which may be of value to those who are inquiring of the Constitution as to methods for marketing Georgia products.

Our products are equal in food values from a scientific standpoint—from an analysis of the unit—but they will not sell in competition with western products because they are not standardized either in quality or in packages. Our oats are not "double re-cleaned" and therefore not as clean or appetising, not freed of dust and chaff; the packages are irregular in size and quality; the hay, native grass, peavine, sorghum, alfalfa, is not properly cured, is not regular in color and aroma, in some instances mouldy, and very irregular in shape and size; it is not as appetising and therefore not as economical.

"There is a reason"—our people are not adept at modern methods. They are not familiar with grain and provender production and marketing and are not expected to be compared with the western farmer, who has been raised to this kind of work. But he must and will learn; he must cure and pack his products more scientifically and when he can show up a product as good or better he will get the same or better price.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNUS URGES BOND ISSUE

Editor Constitution: I wish to heartily indorse your stand in regard to bonds for school purposes. As a taxpayer of the city, I feel that I have some right in saying that we must have better educational facilities.

I matriculated at the Boys' high school in 1905, and we were certainly crowded then and proud to use the declaiming hall for study rooms. No place to play at recess; poor light and crowded conditions marked the environments of the school.

Is it not time for the graduates and other men who matriculated from this school to agitate a move to issue bonds and erect new buildings for both the Boys' and Girls' high schools?

Now you say, we pride ourselves on our splendid courthouse, Auditorium and other public buildings, but when it comes to education, the meat and backbone of progress, we are far behind.

Build new schools for the Boys' and Girls' high schools and these, with the new universities soon to be erected, will make Atlanta the educational center of the south.

FARMER SHOULD HAVE HIS OWN HOME MARKET

Editor Constitution: Recently there has been published columns and columns of advice and suggestions to the farmer, and especially was my attention called to the subject in yesterday's Constitution, when I read the letters of Mrs. Black and Mr. Brannon on the subject of "Markets for Food Crops."

In my opinion, there is no better market on earth than is offered right at home in the farmer's own kitchen and on his own little farm. If he will for two years grow hay, corn, wheat, oats and raise a few cattle and a few hogs, just enough to sell to himself and those dependent on him, he will certainly be in a position to do as he pleases with his few bales of cotton and at any time that cotton will bring a greater price, war or no war.

Supply Themselves First.

The people of the south should first supply their individual markets (their homes) before they begin to look about for foreign markets. They have by no means supplied their own markets heretofore. I, therefore, suggest that they first grow a small amount of foodstuffs and supply themselves.

If you will investigate I am right, examine the contents of freight trains coming south from the west and northwest.

Further investigations along this line will reveal some horrible conditions, and for many reasons these conditions should not by any means be altogether charged against the farmer. In fact, I don't believe he should be charged with more than half the responsibility of this condition.

Most of our loans are secured by leading merchants, bankers, warehouse men, fertilizer dealers, professional men and retired farmers who come to the city to live. The average one-horse farmer, or one-mule farmer, who paid $250 for his mule, farms under the direction of this one or this class of men. As the editor of your great paper, you know very well the reasons why that class of men drive their tenants from January to January growing cotton, almost exclusively. As I see it, the merchant sells at a good profit foodstuffs to his tenant and the tenants of his neighboring townsmen. What little cash the tenant must have from April to October, he can have on good credit or a deposit, necessarily must pay high interest to the banker, and so long as large cotton crops are grown it's understood that the warehouse man and fertilizer dealer will wax fat.

They Know.

The professional man and retired farmer know that whether cotton be low or high-priced, the farm from a standpoint is a high rate on their investment.

Whenever the above class of men who either own or control the land, make honest efforts toward bettering the conditions, you will notice a great change, and no war or wars can put this great section in financial mourning.

Whenever the landlord also uses his business sagacity and foresight in the direction of having the tenant place from 25 to 50 cotton money in the bank at 4 per cent and 5 per cent, or as much of it as he can spare, when it is safe to talk so much about "rural credit systems" and things of that nature.

Of course, there are some tenants who will never learn to save anything and will always be slaves to other men, but why not try to reform the habits of the majority.

Use the columns of your great editorial page in showing the landlord wherein he is largely at fault, and in whatever he improves the condition of his tenant financially, he improves the value of his land, possibly not right away, but in very few years.

No, just now we don't need markets except a little home market "all our own," and the average one-mule farmer won't reach that point unless he is backed and supported by the landlord.

Our southern farming system seems to be all wrong, and we had better correct that first.

You are certainly to be commended for the great assistance you are rendering.

SOUTHERN PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

(From The Houston (Tex.) Post.)

The Atlanta Constitution is earnestly urging the municipality to do something to bring the educational facilities up to the demands of the city's rapidly increasing population. It points out that the school buildings are overcrowded, insanitary, non-fireproof and otherwise inadequate.

These conditions are entirely too prevalent in the largest southern cities. Even in Houston, which is probably foremost of all southern cities in the physical excellence of its school buildings, there are some buildings that are non-fireproof and some that may not be in all respects satisfactory in the matter of sanitation. But we say this to say that each year witnesses material progress toward ideal conditions. We believe we are safe in saying that Houston is about reached the period when there will be no further flimsy construction such as was common a few years ago in this city.

In these days of reinforced concrete and advancement in school architecture there is no excuse for the large southern cities to erect flimsy school buildings. Indeed, all public buildings of every description ought to be as nearly fireproof as possible and constructed to last for centuries rather than a few years.

But the southern cities should wake up with respect to their school systems. The children of any city constitute its best asset, and they should be schooled in comfortable, safe, sanitary school buildings. The school buildings of the cities are now becoming in many instances social centers and this is the future that will render great service to the communities in which they are located than ever before. This is another reason why municipal authorities should take care to provide only substantial buildings and to erect these as rapidly as the demands of increasing population require.

Why there should be any hesitation about issuing school bonds in Atlanta we cannot understand. In Houston no school bond issue is ever defeated. There has not been a year for more than a decade in which new school buildings have not been erected, and yet in spite of almost constant building we have barely kept up with the increasing army of school children. The newer school buildings will compare favorably with any in the country and one in particular which has been completed for Houston's newer high, the larger cities is declared to be the last word in high school construction.

But in southern cities are lacking in the matter of school buildings what shall we say of the deplorable conditions in thousands of the rural school districts of the south, where there is no pride in the school and where no attention is paid to sanitation, comfort or attractive surroundings? It is in this respect that the south is most backward.

Here again Harris county, like the county seat, is far ahead of the average Texas superintendent of public instruction has stated that our county has the best rural school system of Texas, and we believe he has not exaggerated the situation a particle. This statement means that we have the best equipped and best managed county system of the south. For Texas has made better progress in public education than other southern states because of her greater financial resources. But we realize that Texas has much to do to bring her educational facilities up to the standards of the most progressive northern and Pacific states.

The Constitution should not weary in impressing upon the people of its city the imperative necessity of keeping the school system physically adequate to all demands. A city's school system of one generation determines the efficiency of its citizenship in the next, and we of the south have not made such progress that we can boast of all that is desirable in the way of an efficient citizenship.

THREE MEETINGS HELD BY BAPTIST BOARDS

Dr. L. E. Barton Is Elected President of State Mission Board.

Three Baptist meetings of importance were held in Atlanta Tuesday, being those of the state mission board, the committee on co-operation and the special committee, Bessie Tift college.

The meeting of the mission board was well attended, those present being: L. E. Barton, Atlanta; Alex W. Bealer, Eastman; R. L. Belton, Millen; J. C. Brewton, Mount Vernon; T. M. Callaway, Dawson; A. Chamlee, Hawkinsville; W. L. Cutts, Sr., Canton; C. W. Daniel, Atlanta; J. C. Dingman, Macon; G. J. Davis, Tennille; J. M. Dodd, Carrollton; J. E. Hampton, Gainesville; W. M. Harris, Thomaniville; E. M. Ashby Jones, Augusta; M. H. Massey, Hartwell; C. W. Minor, Madison; C. Norman, Washington; John F. Purser, Atlanta; J. E. Sammons, Griffin; W. L. Walker, Rome; J. C. Williamson, Columbus; J. A. Wynne, Quitman. Only three members were absent.

The board elected officers, choosing Dr. L. E. Barton, pastor of Jackson Hill Baptist church, Atlanta, president; J. C. Wilkinson, of Columbus, vice president; W. W. Gaines, of Atlanta, recording secretary, and Dr. H. R. Bernard, of Atlanta, auditor.

Dr. Bernard attended to the duties of auditor during the past year and also those of the corresponding secretary, Dr. J. J. Bennett, during his illness. Dr. Bernard was highly commended by the board for his excellent work.

At the afternoon session, the board announced that the state mission budget for the following year had been made up, and totals $60,000. The entire mission appropriations of the state, however, generally come to $250,000.

A short meeting was held by the co-operation committee and the mission board jointly, and Dr. Bernard was elected secretary of the committee.

The committee on Bessie Tift college met at the Firat Baptist church and entered into matters in hand. The committee will meet again today. This is the committee appointed several weeks ago at the Baptist convention at Carrollton, Ga., to raise the $50,000 outstanding debt on Bessie Tift college, now due, to prevent foreclosure.

Billy Sunday Will Come to Atlanta for Revival Meetings

Billy Sunday is coming to Atlanta. That much has been definitely set for the local evangelical association. It may take two months to get him here—it may even take six months—but the famous evangelist has been included among noted preachers called by the Atlanta association to take part in one of the greatest series of religious meetings ever held in this city, and the committee of ten workers will leave no stone unturned to carry out the arranged program.

The first meeting of the series opened recently at the old Baptist Tabernacle under the leadership of the well-known Bud Robinson, of California, the cowboy preacher, who is said by his admirers to be the most original preacher in America.

Robinson learned his A. B. C's out on the ranch by moonlight after he was 21 years old, and studied the Bible while on his round-up. He has been preaching for thirty-four years, and counts among his converts 200 ministers, 60 missionaries, and 5 university graduates. He preaches daily at 10 o'clock in the morning and 7:30 at night, and is making a deep impression on his audiences.

Prominent singers are taking part in the services, most of whom are authors of song books. They are Charlie Tillman, Jim Miliam, Homer Rodeheaver and L. B. Bridges.

It will interest many in Atlanta to know that the next big evangelist on the committee's program is Arthur Murray, the city's former dancing masters, Charles Dunnaway, who entered the ministry in Texas after leaving Atlanta, and has scheduled for the January meeting.

Next in order will be Henry C. Morrison, editor of The Pentacostal Herald, of Louisville, Ky., who has made himself one of the country's most able evangelists.

J. L. Brasher, the Alabama preacher who has made a nation-wide reputation, follows Dr. Morrison.

In the meanwhile, the Evangelical Association of Atlanta are bending all efforts to engage Billy Sunday for whatever date he can come.

Palestine Lodge Will Hold an Interesting Session Next Friday

A meeting of special interest to all Masons will be held by Palestine Lodge No. 486 next Friday evening.

The third degree will be dramatized in full form, on the stage of the Scottish Rite Bodies, in Masonic temple. Special permission has been granted to use all scenery and stage settings as may be necessary to exemplify the degree in the most impressive manner.

J. LeRoy Duncan, past master of Gate City Lodge No. 2, will deliver an interesting and practical lecture on the symbolism of the third degree. It is expected that Hon. N. H. Ballard, grand master of Masons of Georgia, will be in attendance at this meeting.

A large crowd is expected. The meeting will be called to order by the worshipful master, William D. Phipps, promptly at 6:30 o'clock. Exemplification will begin about 8 o'clock.

Dodge Brothers' Motor Car Makes Its Bow to Atlanta

The new Dodge Bros. motor car makes its official bow to the Atlanta public today in the show rooms of the Pegram Motor Car company, 253 Peachtree street, which concern has the southern agency for the new car.

The official entry of this car into the southern field is a noteworthy event to motor car agents and motorists in general.

The car will be on exhibit at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

A. Graham Gordon, of Detroit, special southern representative of Dodge Bros. gave an informal luncheon to members of the press at the Winecoff hotel yesterday, after which he gave them, so to speak, a private introduction to the new car by taking them for a spin out Peachtree.

The interest which local agents entertain in this new car was apparent as the car passed the various automobile agencies that line Peachtree street from the Winecoff to North avenue. The distinctive appearance of the car immediately placed agents who happened to see it on notice that a stranger was in their midst. And soon as it dawned upon them that this was the new Dodge Bros. car, hats always came off with a profound bow to the new-comer.

It is a light five-passenger car with remarkably graceful lines, and, moreover, runs along the street with all the smoothness of a breeze. It is comfortable and easily handled, and bids fair to become one of the most popular cars on the market.

In the words of Mr. Gordon:

"Dodge Bros. have crammed all the efficiency and durability possible into a popular priced car."

Conference at Quitman.

Quitman, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—The South Georgia annual conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church opens here tomorrow. Two hundred and forty-five members, laymen and ministers, with many leaders of the negro race, will be present. Bishop J. S. Flipper, of Atlanta, will be in charge. Six presiding elders will assist the bishop and the pastor, presiding the work of the conference, Dr. William D. Johnson, President W. A. Fountain, J. O. Iverson, C. M. Tanner, J. A. Hadley, P. G. Simmons, A. A. Wingfield, E. W. Branch and Treasurer L. H. Smith are among those who will take a leading part during the session. Richard D. Stinson, of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial school, will speak on "Practical Education for the Masses" Saturday night.

Clayton Boards Meet.

Jonesboro, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—The Clayton county board of education, with Commissioner J. H. Hine in the chair, held their regular monthly meeting here today and transacted considerable routine business. The board of commissioners of roads and revenue also held a very busy session here today, auditing and paying many bills and attending to other county matters.

George H. Kerr Made Commercial Agent of The Southern Railway

GEORGE H. KERR.

Who comes to Atlanta from Pittsburg to be commercial agent for the Southern railway.

George H. Kerr, who for the past seven years has represented the freight traffic department of the Southern railway in Pittsburg, and is considered one of the strongest men in the Southern's freight organization, has been brought to Atlanta as the head of the local solicitation force, with the title of commercial agent. Mr. Kerr arrived in Atlanta Tuesday afternoon, and will assume charge immediately. Shortly after the middle of January he will move his family, consisting of Mrs. Kerr and two children, to Atlanta, and they will hereafter make this city their home. Other changes to be made in the Southern's Atlanta commercial agency are said to be the return of George Robertson to Atlanta as freight soliciting agent, and the transfer of Paul Pinkerton to Athens to succeed Mr. Robinson as commercial agent at that point.

JUDGE HANSELL GOES ON TICKET WITH M'CLATCHEY

Judge Charles P. Hansell, the veteran assistant secretary of the senate, who served as such under Colonel Bill Harris, of Worth; later on under Secretary Bill Clifton, and then under Secretary Charles S. Northen, announces that he will be an influential associate with D. F. McClatchey, who has announced his candidacy for secretary of the senate to succeed the late Charles S. Northen. Mr. McClatchey has formed a ticket containing every one of Mr. Northen's staff, including Judge Hansell. Gubernatorial Charles P. Rice.

Judge Hansell telegraphs as follows:

"I have agreed with Mr. D. F. McClatchey, who is a candidate for secretary of the senate to succeed the late Charles S. Northen, to accept the place of assistant secretary in the event of his election, and I earnestly request Mr. McClatchey's support and influence of all my friends. I am in no manner connected with the candidacy of any other gentleman, but am doing everything in my power to promote the candidacy of Mr. McClatchey and feel sure of his election.

"CHARLES P. HANSELL."

NEGRO CONFERENCE MEETS IN THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—The thirty-sixth session of the South Georgia annual conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church in America convened here today. Bishop Robert H. William, of Augusta, presiding.

The bishop delivered a great sermon to which he conference responded freely. Holy communion was administered by Presiding Elders A. J. Hazen and L. O. Neal, assisted by the elders of the conference. The conference organized by electing Rev. J. A. Martin, secretary; Rev. J. M. Lott, recording secretary; Rev. Dr. T. C. Black, statistician; Rev. L. L. Boney, reporter to the daily papers.

After the appointment of the various committees, Dr. James Arthur Hamlet, editor of The Christian Index, Jackson, Tenn., was introduced and spoke of his department befittingly.

Professor W. A. Bell, of Paine college, was introduced to the conference. The question of a division of the conference will be determined tomorrow.

COLUMBIAN WOODMEN HOLD SESSION TODAY

The biennial session of the Eminent Household, the supreme body of the Columbian Woodmen, will be held today at the Piedmont hotel. A number of delegates arrived Tuesday. Matters of general interest to the order will be discussed. A large growth in membership will be reported. The organization has paid to its beneficiaries $1,500,000.

AMERICUS ICE COMPANY BOUGHT BY ATLANTAN

Americus, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—The plant and equipment of the Americus Ice and Coal company was sold today under foreclosure proceedings and purchased by T. D. Meadows, of Atlanta. Nine thousand dollars was the excellent price paid. It is not known what disposition will be made of the property.

THREE HUNDRED ORPHANS SEE PLAY FOR NOTHING

Will Be U. C. T. Guests at "A Day at the Union Station."

Three hundred of Atlanta's little orphans are to be the guests of the United Commercial Travelers of this city next Saturday afternoon, when these "knights of the grip" stage their play, "A Day at the Union Station," at the Atlanta theater.

For more than a month the best local talent in the city has been rehearsing under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Sheldon, Sr., and the two performances—matinee and night—promises to be one of the cleverest and best local productions seen here in a long while. And, judging from the advance sale of seats, the crowds who are going to witness this pleasing and funny play will be large enough to more than delight the promoters.

In addition to the usual number of characters who make this little play interesting from start to finish, Mrs. Sheldon has arranged for a bevy of high school girls to grace the stage at the city's Yuletide homes by reserving 300 seats for them complimentary at the Saturday matinee.

MAN WHO STARTED COMMERCE WHEELS OF ATLANTA, DEAD

John Bailey, the first man to sell a bale of cotton in Atlanta, is dead at his home in Grenville, at the age of 92 years. He was born in Greenville district, South Carolina, in 1822, and at the age of three moved with his parents to Texas.

Mr. Bailey sold his cotton in Atlanta in March, 1845, at 5 cents a pound. The place then was known as Marthasville, and consisted of three business houses made of logs. During the Atlanta exposition of 1881, those in charge sent Mr. Bailey to Atlanta to get him, in closing money for transportation and expenses. When he arrived, Williams put on exhibition as being the man who started the wheels of commerce in Atlanta.

Reports of his death a few days ago reached Atlanta yesterday.

TWO ARE BADLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

As the result of their automobile running into the rear end of a wagon on Peachtree road at the crossing, last night about 6 o'clock, H. W. Waters, a merchant, and C. R. Dudley, a business man of Marietta, Ga., were thrown from the machine and injured.

They were rushed to the Grady hospital in the ambulance of Barclay & Brandon for surgical attention. Waters' head had been gashed in several places and Dudley, who was driving the machine, was knocked unconscious, receiving several deep gashes in his head. Both were examined by physicians to operate on him. He remained unconscious for hours last night.

According to the statements of Waters to the ambulance driver and attendants at the Grady hospital attaches, both men were drinking. The ambulance driver said that Waters said he was sitting with the steering wheel, which Dudley had hold of, when Dudley began to swerve to one side and strike the wagon.

The accident took place on the steep incline on Peachtree road that leads to the Seventh street bridge.

The men were returning to their home in Alpharetta.

HAMILTON GETS 3 YEARS; APPEALS FOR NEW TRIAL

Valdosta, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—L. D. Hamilton, former secretary and treasurer of the Valdosta Lighting company, who was convicted of embezzlement in the superior court here, was this afternoon sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. A motion for a new trial was immediately made by Hamilton's counsel, which will be heard by Judge Thomas on January 23, 1915. Pending the hearing Hamilton was remanded to jail without bond.

It is announced by J. M. Johnson, Hamilton's attorney, that he will carry the case to the court of appeals if a new trial be refused.

PRIMARY TO BE HELD IN WAYCROSS TODAY

Waycross, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—Tomorrow Waycross holds the 1914 city primary, at which a city recorder, three aldermen and three members of the city board of education will be nominated. The regular election will be held early in January. While this year's primary lacks the interest that is always present when a mayor is nominated, the contests are causing much more interest than was expected a month ago.

ANOTHER WARM DAY IS THE PREDICTION

Weather for Atlanta on Wednesday, December 2, 1914, another warm, murky day, with possibly light rain, is indicated for Atlanta. The early morning temperature will again be above 50 degrees, but it will not rise very high during the day, certainly not to exceed 65 degrees, according to the official forecast. Winds will be light southerly. But there is now indication of colder weather in the near future; the temperature will probably begin to fall Wednesday night and will touch freezing Thursday night.

Planning for the Stork's Arrival

Among those things which all women should know of, and many of them do, not, is a splendid external application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." It is a penetrating liquid and many and many a mother tells how it so wonderfully aided them through the period of expectancy. Its chief purpose is to render the tendons, ligaments and muscles so pliant that nature's expansion may be accomplished without the intense strain so often characteristic of the period of expectancy.

At any rate it is reasonable to believe that since "Mother's Friend" has been a companion to motherhood for more than half a century no more timely advice could be given the inexperienced mother than to suggest its daily use during expectancy.

Ask at any drug store for "Mother's Friend," a penetrating, external liquid of great help and value. And write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 307 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book of useful and timely information to expectant mothers. It contains many suggestions that are of interest to all women.

MOVES ON MACON CLUBS

Alderman Says They Are "Open Saloons."

Macon, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—A movement to abolish locker clubs in Macon has been started by Alderman W. G. Lee. He has announced that he will bring the matter before council when it comes time to frame a new license and tax ordinance for the coming year.

"The locker clubs are nothing more than open saloons," said Alderman Lee, "and the near beer men are not getting a square deal so long as they are conducted as at present."

The saloon question is one of the most important that the city fathers will have to consider this month. Some seem to favor raising the near beer license to $500 and limiting the number to twenty-five. Others favor a lower license and more saloons. Under a recent charter amendment the city now has the right to tax locker clubs the same as the state, and next year each one will be required to pay at least $500 and possibly more into the city coffers. There are about fifteen or twenty of these clubs in the city, the restraint to be derived will be no small amount—that is, if the clubs are not abolished altogether.

Can't Speak to Wife.

Macon, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—Because her husband recently met her on the street and knocked her down, after which he gave her a good beating, Mrs. Nell Richards Taylor today secured an injunction against him to restrain him from speaking to her or calling on her at her home.

A. J. Taylor, the husband, is a railroad fireman and is well known in Macon. His wife charges that he is a habitual drunkard and that he has several times threatened her life. The couple recently separated, after living together for about a year.

Mrs. Taylor is also asking a divorce and alimony.

Bibb Officials Nominated.

Macon, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—All Bibb county officials who are named by the county commissioners were nominated today for another term, none of them having any opposition. The officers are: Dr. C. O. Gibson, county physician; J. Ross Bowden, secretary of the board; W. T. Watson, Hoff home superintendent; E. A. Wimbish, road superintendent; W. G. Smith, county attorney; W. K. Young, keeper of the property book.

TWELVE HUSBANDS SEEK END OF MARITAL WOES

The specters of a dozen troublesome wives, regaled as modern shrews who made matrimony a terror and divorce a literal balm of Gilead, haunted Judge George Bell's courtroom yesterday when twelve husbands appeared to try undefended divorce suits.

The wives were not present to defend themselves, but their specters were there. Some were proclaimed Pankhurstic in spirit, deed and temperament; some super-negligent; others faithless and extravagant. Many were so violently arraigned that it is no small wonder that their specters did not shriek out in protest.

Among those who presented divorce pleas were Dr. F. C. Young, Leo Lesinsky, Mrs. A. Cathey and Mrs. Henry M. Spinks.

FRANK A. HOOPER JOINS ETHERIDGE & ETHERIDGE

Frank A. Hooper, noted criminal lawyer who assisted Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey in the Leo Frank case, has resigned from the law firm of Little, Powell, Hooper & Goldstein and has become associated with Etheridge & Etheridge, which will now be known as Hooper, Etheridge & Etheridge.

HUSBAND WAS POOR PAY; WIFE SEEKS A DIVORCE

Mrs. Mary Satterwhite, wife of Alfred Satterwhite, wants a divorce from her husband, and she claims her husband wouldn't pay his debts and that she was annoyed by the horde of bill collectors that invaded her home on the first of every month.

She filed her petition in superior court yesterday. Other grounds are non-support and negligence.

AUGUSTA TO HAVE DAY AT PANAMA EXPOSITION

Augusta, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—Mayor L. C. Hayne has received word that May 4, 1915, has been set apart by the management of the Panama-Pacific exposition as Augusta day at the big show.

FUND IS RAISED FOR WIDOW OF F. B. PEEK

Subscriptions have started off liberally to the fund for the wife and children of County Policeman F. B. Peek, who was shot and killed by a negro desperado Thanksgiving. Among those subscribing yesterday and the amounts they gave were Chief George Mathieson, $25; A. P. Stewart, W. C. Stevens, Mrs. J. M. Carroll, $10 each; D. H. McWilliams, $1; M. Peacock, 50 cents; making a total of $57.50.

BUREAU OF COMMERCE MOVES ITS QUARTERS

The bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, only recently established in Atlanta, and which has been located in room 724 of the postoffice building, has moved to room 521. In its new quarters the bureau has all necessary equipment and plenty of space to carry on its work of aiding Atlanta manufacturers and exporters to facilitate foreign commerce.

Carlisle Plays Alabama Today

SPORTS—CONDUCTED BY DICK JEMISON.

CARLISLE PLAYS ALABAMA TODAY

Indians Meet the Thin Red Line in Post-Season Game on Rickwood Field, Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., December 1.—(Special.)—The Carlisle Indians arrived here this morning for their game with the University of Alabama on Rickwood Field tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Graves and his Alabama squad will come here this morning for the game.

The Indians are the favorites in advance of the game. There is considerable interest in the game here and a large crowd of football fans are sure to be on hand, as it is the first visit of the Indians to Birmingham athletically.

BRICKLEY SCORED 287 POINTS FOR THE HARVARD CRIMSON

When Charley Brickley dodged his doctors and got into the Yale-Harvard game long enough to kick the last one of the Crimson's 16 points, he boosted his scoring total to 287 points. While rolling up the Cambridge university, Brickley scored thirty touchdowns, for 174 points; eight goals from touchdown, for eight points, and thirty-five goals from field, for 105 points. He lifted five field goals between the crossbars against Yale in 1913.

BITTER ATTACKS MADE ON MORMON CHURCH

Pittsburg, December 1.—Attacks on the Mormon church featured the concluding day's session of the National Reform association here. Speaking on "Mormonism Commercial" Rev. J. S. Martin, of Pittsburg, superintendent of the association, declared the Mormon church was "the most arrogant, the most deep-rooted and the most dangerous of all monopolies." Mrs. F. J. Diefenderfer, of Erie, Pa., characterized the Mormon church as a "system of Mohammedism; formerly a theocracy, now a despotism." That Mormons are still polygamous was the declaration of Mrs. A. M. Snow, of Kalida, Ohio. Dr. John R. Harris, of Pittsburg, denounced the Mormon church as a menacing political machine and Bishop T. C. Carter, of Chattanooga, Tenn., declared the Mormon church antagonistic toward the United States government.

A. A. C. QUINTET TO OPEN SEASON

Play Chattanooga Tigers Here in First Contest on Saturday Night—Dance After Game.

The opening game of the 1914-15 basketball season of the Atlanta Athletic club will be ushered in Saturday night, when the strong Chattanooga Tiger quintet journey down for their annual game with Joe Bean's men. This game promises to be a lively and hard-fought affair from the start, as both teams are in the pink of condition and eager for the opening game.

The Tiger line-up will have the same two men at forward who played last season, namely, McCullom and Norman, two of the best forwards ever seen on a local floor. It will be remembered in the game last year that their playing was easily the feature of the contest. This year they are just as good, and are backed up with a stronger defensive game.

Coach Bean's aggregation is also a degree better than they were, and although the same five are regulars on the team, they are more experienced and stronger players.

The outlook for a very successful season for the local five is very bright, and the followers of basketball will have the opportunity of seeing some lively games, ere the season wanes.

Some of the teams that will appear locally are: Birmingham, Columbus, Mercer, Auburn, Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech and others yet to be named.

The line-up of the two teams for Saturday's game is:

ATLANTA.		Position.	CHATT.
Smith (Capt.)		L. F.	McCollum
Forbes		R. F.	Norman
Dubard		C.	Brockhaus
Ed Carter		L. G.	Hall
Weaver		R. G.	G. Gamble

The game will start promptly at 8 o'clock, and a dance will follow the performance.

DOBBINS IS NAMED CAPTAIN OF TIGERS

Right Tackle Chosen to Lead the 1915 Eleven at the Annual Banquet.

Sewanee, Tenn., December 1.—(Special.)—Robert Taylor Dobbins, Sewanee's star right tackle, was tonight elected captain of the Tigers for the season of 1915. The election was held at the annual banquet of the football squad, those who have won the coveted "S" participating in the voting.

The annual meeting was the most joyful ever held by the Tigers since 1909, the last year Sewanee defeated Vanderbilt previous to the present season. Many speeches were made and enthusiasm was complete and unstrained.

The new Tiger captain came to the mountain from Anderson school, of Murfreesboro, in 1912. He was a regular from the jump and has been Sewanee's defensive mainstay for three seasons. Though weighing but 170 pounds he makes every ounce "count."

LLOYD-GEORGE EXPLAINS THAT $5,000,000,000

London, December 1.—As a result of reports made by American correspondents of London newspapers that the statement of David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, who said the United States owed Great Britain about $5,000,000,000, had caused surprise in the United States, Mr. Lloyd-George today gave the Associated Press the following statement:

"Judging from the comments which have appeared in the American press on the chancellor of the exchequer's statement Friday last in the house of commons with regard to exchange between this country and the United States of America, this appears to have been incompletely reported in America. Mr. Lloyd-George's actual words as reported in the official report were:

"America, I suppose, owes us nearly a thousand million pounds in fixed and floating capital, but we could not buy. It was impossible to do any business. Why, the exchanges had broken down. This paper machine had crumpled and somehow got out of order and the result was that no business was possible.

"This statement seems to have reached the United States in the form that America owed the United Kingdom a thousand million pounds, without any explanatory words that this sum owed in fixed and floating capital. These words, of course, make it clear that Mr. Lloyd-George's statement referred to the total of British invested capital in America and in no way to America's indebtedness in respect of the current balance of trade between the two countries."

In a statement concerning the financial condition in Great Britain, Mr. Lloyd-George told the house of commons last Friday that the financial panic which followed the outbreak of the war was due to inability to collect outstanding debts abroad. He was quoted as saying that the United States owed Great Britain $5,000,000,000 and as adding "but we could do no business."

NO U. S. SUBMARINES FOR WARRING POWERS

Washington, December 1.—Secretary Bryan today said that after a thorough investigation of rumors that submarines were being built in the United States for European belligerents, the American government had found no evidence to support such reports.

The secretary said government agents had not discovered that work of any character was being done on foreign war craft and declared his statement also covered rumors that submarine were being constructed in sections for shipment abroad.

While the building of war vessels for a belligerent is a breach of neutrality, Mr. Bryan declined to say what action the government would take if it was discovered American firms were building submarines in sections. He recalled that during the Russo-Japanese war submarines were built in sections in the United States and shipped to Russia, the secretary declined to comment, saying such a case would be ruled on if it arose.

UNITED STATES TROOPS TO STAY IN STRIKE ZONE

Washington, December 1.—After discussing with Secretary Garrison the request of Governor Ammons that United States troops be withdrawn from some of the Colorado strike districts, President Wilson decided today that nothing should be done at this time.

Earlier in the day the president told callers he was waiting formal notice from Governor Ammons that the state militia was ready to resume control before withdrawing the troops.

In a statement issued last Sunday Mr. Wilson said he was not willing to withdraw the troops without providing means for handling difficulties between the operators and the miners. Governor Ammons has held several conferences in Denver recently with the governor-elect regarding plans for re-establishing the state authority. It is believed here the governor will send word to the president in the near future that the state can control the situation.

BOND ISSUE OF $4,100,000 PLAN OF SUB-COMMITTEE

city at Spring and Eighteenth streets, but after it was shown the committee that the Spring street school will be adequate to care for the needs of the Ansley Park section, Alderman Armistead agreed to eliminate the $60,000 from the white school appointment and tacked it on the appointment for negro schools, which was originally fixed at $80,000. This brought the negro school appointment up to $140,000, which the school board is certain is adequate to take care of the negro children for at least five years.

Over $2,000,000 Asked for Parks.

Definite action on the demands of the park department was postponed by the committee.

Park Commissioner Charles Belcher asked the committee to include $2,029,-000 in the bond issue for the park department's needs, $1,300,000 of which to be used in the purchase of playgrounds and the remainder to be used to carry out the plans of the park department to complete the park system and erect a new cycloramа building.

At first the committee thought Commissioner Belcher was joking, but when the entire park board invaded the committee meeting and gave the proposal a serious aspect, members decided that the proposition was too big a joke to handle, but agreed to place $75,000 in the issue for a cycloрama building and instructed General Manager Scott to get a conservative and sensible estimate of the actual needs of the department and submit it formally to the general committee.

Alderman Nutting suggested that the park department put the playground estimate on a minimum basis.

"The primary idea of this bond issue is to give the city departments room to expand and meet the demands of progress, and secondly, to inaugurate a period of construction work which will give thousands of our idle citizens work during the winter months. There will be scarce because of the financial depression being felt the world over," said Alderman Nutting. "We agree with the park board that the city needs more recreation places for the people, but playgrounds won't give much work to the unemployed, whereas a million dollars spent on new buildings, sewers and other projects will keep many of our workmen from starvation.

The committee included $75,000 for a municipal warehouse, chiefly on the suggestion of City Purchasing Agent Chambers, who explained that his department now pays the city about $5,000 a month, or $60,000 a year, since its inauguration, for storing supplies in bulk. He told the committee that with a warehouse in which to store supplies the city can increase its saving to $100,000 a year.

Poor Girls' High School.

A strong delegation from the school board, headed by President George M. Hope, appeared before the committee. Commissioners Terrell and Howell followed President Hope, each making strong arguments for the needs of the schools.

Commissioner Terrell declared that the Girls' High school structure is the poorest in the United States. He urged that the present site be moved, and suggested that an ideal location would be further out on Washington street.

"I would favor placing the high school and the English Commercial school on the same lot," Commissioner Terrell said. "The city could sell the present inadequate lots and thus derive the money to use on the high schools only. There is no reason why children that some of the present school plants should be sold by the city."

Commissioner Terrell said that he would urge two separate high school plants for the Boys' High and the Tech High.

The committee discussed the plan of placing one of the high schools on the Ivy school lot, but the school commissioners declared that the lot was too small. The commissioners also discouraged the idea of stockade property for the use of the high schools for boys.

Commissioner Dan Green told the committee that from his observations among the people he knows that they are a unit that the schools should be improved, and he expressed the belief that they will vote for bonds for school purposes.

Great emphasis was placed by the committee on the necessity of the city planning to build schools which will take care of the future needs of the city for a period of at least five years. Councilman Charles W. Smith, who is one of the active members of the committee, said that, in his opinion, the city should not attempt to build schools unless they are built substantially.

"We should not overload the city with bonds," said Councilman Smith, "nor should we cramp the city and force the city to try and spend 90 cents for a dollar's worth of work."

Superintendent Summerall, of Grady hospital, asked the committee for $850,-000 for hospital improvements. He explained that the city is losing revenue by the present inadequate facilities and failure to provide ample facilities.

$750,000 for Waterworks.

W. Zede Smith, manager of the water department, asked for $750,000, explaining that the money will take care of the most urgent needs of the department, but would not purchase pipe. The committee agreed to place $750,000 in the sheet for use in improving the water pumping stations, a need which is second in importance to the school system.

Captain Clayton, chief of the construction department, asked for a total of $1,162,856.10 for all purposes, as follows: Bridges and underpasses, $475,-261.45; pavements, $283,812.50; sewers, $258,386.42, and disposal plants, $473,-396.83.

Chief W. B. Cummings, of the fire department, asked for a total of $260,-000 for the department, the money to be used exclusively for motorizing the present equipment, do away with the expense of maintaining horses.

The police department was not represented, but Alderman Nutting read a letter from Chief Beavers in which the department's needs were estimated to be about $100,000.

"BIG BROTHER" DINNER A GREAT SUCCESS

was to home. Then a swell loldy named Mrs. Frank Pearson got up on the same flatform Peg stood on 'n sang Tipperary fr us, 'n we whistled it jus' like we was up in de peanut at r' Forsyte.

Fancy Trimmin's.

Dey gives us all sorts uv fancy trimmin's—parfums 'n tool' powder 'n pencils 'n things f'r sooveneers. Dey hadder lot uv dem noisy crackers, too, what dey give around to us so we c'd crack 'em 'n feel at home in de noise, so none uv us 'd get imbarrassed. "N, feller, I'm here t' tell yuh dey had one helluva time keepin' all dem kids f'um crackin' dem things all de time 'n all over de place.

Look-a-here, guy, yuh don't know what a big time is. Dem Rotarian guy's is regular fellers. Dey took this little Roy Moulton—y' know 'im; he shuffles drinks down here 't Nun'ly's—'n put 'im on a table fer to sing Mandelay. Dat kid's all there, b'lieve me. He sang it 'n brought down de house. Dey made 'im sing it more'n three times an' one time he got r'ough dey made 'im sing it sum more. Den dey made de gang join in.

After dat dey had Yiddish Mike's quartet sing our old crap shootin' fav'rite 'n some more fellers made a duet. Trouble was Mike's gang wuz too hungry, 'n when a loidy comes 'round wit' a plate uv candy de fellers made a dive for 'em 'n stopped de singin'. Along comes dese two show fellers, Hammerstein 'n Cohen, what you know. One uv 'em danced n' speeched, 'n de udder sang a laughin' song dat wuz a knock-out.

But, boy, where yuh missed it wuz in not gettin' t' hear Peg Leonard's speech. Some day dat guy's gonnee be somet'n, even if he ain't got but one kick. Y' see, dey wuz a preacher feller up makin' a speech. He was de new bishop something what's come to a church named St. Philip's. Aw, feller, dat's yuh never heard it! He was tellin' all us guys what we had ter be thankful for, 'n all uv a sudden he come over to us 'n' he was sittin' right under 'im. 'N he ses to Peg:

Peg's Thankfulness.

"Feller, what you got to be thankful fr?"

Well, you know this Peg. He got more nerve dan a brass monkey. He jist up 'n considered it wuz up t' 'im t' tell this preacher feller 'zactly what he hadder be thankful fr. He climbs up on de platform, 'n see like he was a real speecher:

"Fellers, I'm thankful I'm livin' 'n dat I gotta lotter frien's like you guys. I'm thankful I didn't get hurt when de cut off. I'm thankful 'cause I'm well. 'Cause I'm happy, 'cause I'm—'cause I'm thankful. Aw, heh, fellers, I'm jist thankful on gen'ral princ'ples."

Say wot a lot uv t'ings done after dat, 'n dey pulled off de pie eatin' stuff. Dey wuz a bunch of kids lined up on de stage. Dey all had a pie apiece. De one what can eat his pie f'ast got two duckets to de Atlanta t'eater. Dey ate dair pie so f'ast de judges didn't know who'd ate it f'ast, so dey give de duckets to de two guys what dey thought had ate it f'ast.

Den dey all want out on de streets. Dey had a big t'ree uv pies—dese round, juicy 'tater ones—'n when dey hit de streets wit' all dat eatin' dey wuz on somebuddy howled, "Go!" Fellers, dere wasn't a pie left. Dey ain't found de las' one yet. Dose kids dived into dat t'ree uv pies like dey ain't never seen nothin' no place.

But, feller, de funniest t'ing happened to me dat day what takes pertic'lars f'r de Con'tution tried ter line up de facts. I'm standin' on de curb, all fixed proper 'n wus erbout to wave good-by when Wop Sam, dat wicked feller, goes 'n snipe de twelve. Twelve outer a dozen guy's hands. Wen dem b'loons went up, dere wus a thousan' kids dat never seen in yer life. Dey wasn't no b'loon sales'men dat day wid dem b'loons floatin' in de air.

Big time? Bull Feller, y' ain't seen no big time. Gwan now, 'n sell yer polpers.

WHY THE GERMAN LINER SHUNNED FRENCH PORT

Boston, December 1.—The steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie, the $11,000,000 treasure ship that after starting on a voyage from New York to Europe last summer, turned back to American shores with 1,046 passengers through fear of capture by British and French warships, acted under direct orders from the managing board of the North German-Lloyd line, according to papers filed in federal court today. These papers constitute the answers of the ship's owners to libels filed as a result of failure to complete the voyage to Bremerhaven by way of Plymouth and Cherbourg.

Justifying the termination of the voyage, the papers assert that a state of war existed between Germany, France and Russia before the date on which the vessel could have arrived at Plymouth or Cherbourg.

Regarding the libel of the Quaranty Trust company of New York, consignor of $5,000,000 of the bullion, claiming damages of $1,040,467, the answer asserts that under maritime laws of the United States and Germany the captain had the right to protect his cargo and the ship from capture. It says also that the bill of lading under which the gold was shipped provided that the steamship should be at liberty to put into ports of refuge.

Germany's declaration of war on Russia was at all steamship purposes a declaration of war on France owing to the international relations between these two countries, the answer further contends in its answer to the libel of Charles W. Rantoul, of New York, a passenger.

The answer states that Rantoul's ticket provided for transportation to Cherbourg and that it was impossible to reach that port before August 4, when the war declaration against Russia was made. Further, the company asserts he demanded and accepted repayment of his passage money and this cancelled obligations.

GAS RATE PROBE WILL BE RESUMED FRIDAY

After organizing and going over some data collected from other cities in the matter of gas rates, the special committee appointed by council to investigate the gas rate of the Atlanta Gas Light company adjourned Tuesday night after a brief session. The committee will hold another session on Friday night, at which time it will ask Preston Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, to be present. The committee will also ask an electrician in R. C. Tuttle to attend the session. Turner is responsible for the resolution which was introduced in council urging an investigation of Atlanta's gas charges.

The committee is composed of Alderman I. N. Ragsdale, chairman, and Alderman John S. Owens and Councilman George H. Boynton.

City Electrician Turner declares that the city is paying more than any other city for gas, and asserts that the consumers are being imposed upon. He has advocated an 80-cent gas rate for the city, and has gathered data from all the big cities, many of which are located much farther from coal mines than that Atlanta is entitled to a reduction.

CHRISTMAS POULTRY GOING TO BE CHEAPER

Washington, December 1.—Renewed activity in poultry markets assuring a plentiful supply of turkeys and other fowls for Christmas at prices lower than those prevailing at Thanksgiving was predicted tonight by the department of agriculture.

The department found, it was explained, that an "entirely erroneous impression" of its quarantine orders against shipments of live stock from localities affected by the foot and mouth disease had been given poultry dealers. To correct this it was announced again that there is no restriction on shipping dressed poultry from uninfected districts in states quarantined against the foot and mouth disease and that no restriction had been imposed on shipments of dressed poultry into quarantined states.

HEAVY CASUALTY LIST FOR AMERICAN MINES

Washington, December 1.—A casualty list of American mines and quarries, issued today by the bureau of mines, showed 2,651 men killed last year and estimated the injured at not less than 100,000. This was a fatality rate of 2.49 in every thousand of the 1,047,010 men employed in the industries.

"Such a death rate," Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the bureau, declared, "was excessive and unnecessary" and a discredit to the industry and the country.

"We stand aghast at the slaughter in Europe," said Dr. Holmes, "and we pride ourselves on our freedom from war through the adaptation of higher ideals and standards. Yet to me this report on the death in one year of 2,651 men engaged in a peaceful industry is quite as discreditable. In the last three years American mines and quarries have swallowed up 10,457 human lives and have incapacitated temporarily probably a quarter of a million men.

"These figures are conservative when I say that half of the 2,651 men killed last year might have been saved, and three-fourths of the 100,000 men injured might have escaped had all the safety devices been employed. The operators, the miners and the state and national governments done their full duty in the matter. For the bureau of mines, representing the federal government, I can say that owing to a lack of adequate funds, this bureau has failed to do anything like its full part in this great safety movement; and I therefore hesitate to criticise the seeming shortcomings of any other agency.

"Even to the credit of the United States that the European countries embroiled in war kill in the mining industry only one-half or even one-third of the number of men we kill."

RAIL ENGINEERS OBJECT TO "SURPRISE TEST"

Chicago, December 1.—The "surprise test" for the vigilance of locomotive engineers is not necessary, and is one of the methods of railroads that are already in operation virtually granting the conditions asked for in the more important demands of the men, it was declared by Walter Love, official statistician for the engineers.

James M. Sheehan, counsel for the railroad managers, undertook to show by cross-examination of Moore, that such grants would in no respect relieve responsibilities or duties in other directions. Testimony on this point was not completed, but it was said, would be taken up later.

NARCOTIC DRUG USERS IN THE UNITED STATES

Washington, December 1.—That the number of persons in the United States addicted to the habitual use of narcotic drugs is not nearly so large as generally supposed, is the conclusion of the public health service in a report today. It had been estimated that between 1 and 3 per cent of the population were drug habituees. Declaring that this estimate is entirely unwarranted by too high, the report says that the figures show the existence of an almost many habitual users of narcotic drugs. The belief is expressed also that the evils due to the improper use of such drugs have been greatly exaggerated.

The report is based on statistical data furnished by the Tennessee authorities. It shows that in the state of Tennessee during the first six months of the operation of the harrison anti-narcotic law, 1,402 permits were issued to persons who had been found purchasing narcotic drugs and also on figures showing the approximate number of average doses of habit forming drugs consumed in the United States in 1911 and 1912 being, respectively, 700,000,000 and 1,808,700,000. On the basis of the figures for the years named, the report says, it would appear that basing an estimate on the average consumption of the drug habitue in Tennessee each addict would consume approximately 1,000 doses each month, or 12,000 doses a year.

"The state of Tennessee," the report states, "contains approximately 2 per cent of the total population of the United states and on the supposition that the same ratio of drug addicts and the amount of material consumed will hold good throughout the United States, we would have a total of something more than 70,000 drug habitues, consuming approximately 850,000,000 average doses per year. This quantity probably is more than large, but it is fair to assume that not more than double or approximately 1,700,000,000 average doses are consumed annually by drug habitues."

AMONG SNOW DRIFTS AND FLOODS OF LAVA

Honolulu, December 1.—Caught among snow drifts on the path of flood and lava erupted from the crater of Mauna Loa, Professor Thomas A. Jaggar, head of the work of a party here of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, barely escaped with his life yesterday. Mauna Loa became active Sunday, pouring streams of lava, assistants, making an ascent to study the eruption, were caught in a snowstorm on the summit and were overwhelmed by snow slides, while streams of lava cut off their retreat down the mountainside. None of the party was seriously injured.

Carlisle Indians Arrive Here Thursday for Game With Auburn on Saturday

Coach Pop Warner and his Carlisle Indians will arrive here Thursday morning from Birmingham, where they play the University of Alabama today.

The Indians will practice Thursday and Friday at Grant Field, where the game will be played.

The invasion of Dixie is something that the Redskins have been looking forward to for some time, and the Atlanta football fans are also interested in their coming here.

This will be the first time that a Carlisle Indian football team has ever appeared in Atlanta and the game, a post-season affair after a lapse of football of about a week, has keyed local fans up considerably.

Prominent Fans.

The game will not only be well attended by football fans of all degrees, but the game will be lent an official aspect by the attendance of Governor Slaton and his staff as the guests of the two elevens.

Senator Hoke Smith, former Governor Joe Brown, Hon. Clark Howell, of The Constitution; Hon. J. R. Gray, of The Journal; J. R. Floyd, of the Atlanta National bank; Forrest and George Adair, Mayor James G. Woodward and others have signified their intention of greeting the Indians and extending to them a royal southern welcome.

Tickets for the game will go on sale tomorrow at Tumlin Brothers' stores and the usual scale of prices, $1 general admission, $1 for automobiles, and 25 and 50 cents extra for reserved seats, will prevail.

It is expected that a capacity crowd will attend.

Auburn Determined.

Mike Donahue's Plainmen are determined to win the game and will play harder in this game than in any other they have participated in this season.

The score that Georgia held them is still rankling in their breasts and they are going after the Indians hammer and tongs.

The dope, anything, favors Auburn. The Plainmen will be heavier and they will have more veteran players in their eleven than the Indians. But the latter have been coming and coming strongly of late and they are going to be a mighty hard nut for the Plainmen to crack.

The game will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock. Innis Brown, of Vanderbilt, will be the referee; Bob Williams, of Clemson, the umpire, and Dick Jemison, of The Constitution, head linesman.

Arnold Defeated Jemison For C.C.C.C. Championship

Lowry Arnold defeated Dick Jemison, 4 up and 3 to play, in the thirty-six holes finals for the president's cup over the course of the Capital City Country club yesterday.

At the end of the first nine holes, Mr. Arnold was three up. At the end of the second nine, the match was all square. In the afternoon round, at the end of the first nine holes, Mr. Arnold was one up. Mr. Jemison missing a putt for a four and a win on the ninth hole.

Mr. Arnold won the first three holes on the last nine, putting him three up. The fourth, fifth and sixth holes were halved and Mr. Arnold won the match.

Neither one of the contestants played golf that would be expected of contestants in the finals.

Both Mr. Arnold and Mr. Jemison admitted after the match that had they played that kind of golf in any of their other matches during the tournament, they would have been quickly eliminated from the running.

EASTERN ELEVENS GIVEN RANKINGS IN THREE CLASSES

The New York Press, in its Monday issue, ranks the eleven of the east, dividing sixty-odd colleges in three different classes.

In class A, Harvard is ranked first, with Dartmouth, second; Washington and Jefferson, third; Yale, fourth; Cornell, fifth; Army, sixth; Pittsburg, seventh. The others are ranked as follows: Princeton, Rutgers, Lehigh, Syracuse, Penn State, Williams, Colgate, Pennsylvania, Springfield, Navy, Brown, Colby, Tufts and Lafayette.

Trinity is given first place among class B, with Amherst, second; Carlisle, third; Union, fourth, and Wesleyan, fifth.

Albright is ranked first in class C, with Bates, second; Rennsalaer Poly, third; St. John's, fourth, and Bowdoin, fifth.

WOLF OF WALL STREET FACING FEDERAL JURY

David Lamar Accused of Impersonating Congressman Palmer Over Telephone.

New York, December 1.—Testimony by Lewis Cass Ledyard and Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, today regarding telephonic conversations dealing with the United States Steel corporation and J. P. Morgan, was the principal development in the trial of David Lamar in federal court here on a charge of impersonating Representative Palmer with intent to defraud the steel corporation and the Morgan firm. Lamar is known in New York as "The Wolf of Wall Street."

Although three indictments had been brought against Lamar charging him with impersonating officers of the United States, District Attorney Marshall announced that the only one to be pressed would be that accusing him of representing himself as Mr. Palmer and attempting improperly to procure the employment of Edward Lauterbach, a lawyer, by the steel corporation and the Morgan firm.

Representative Palmer's testimony was brief. He denied he had talked over the telephone with Mr. Ledyard between February 4 and 5, 1913, the period when, it is charged, Lamar conversed with Mr. Ledyard in the guise of the Pennsylvania congressman.

Spelled Name Over Phone.

Mr. Ledyard testified that on February 4 he had been summoned to the telephone to talk with a "Congressman P."

The witness continued: "When I took up the telephone, a voice said, 'This is Congressman P. Do you know who I am?' I told him 'No.' He asked if the information that he came from an eastern district in Pennsylvania helped me in placing him. Again I said, 'No.' Then he spelled his name out for me—P-a-l-m-e-r—and asked if that identified him. I said it did."

The pseudo Palmer then told Mr. Ledyard he understood Ledyard was conversant with the plans of the United States Steel corporation and the witness replied that he did not represent the steel company.

"He said," continued the witness, "that Mr. Morgan had refused to listen to any plans to stop the investigation of the money question and that both Geary and Perkins knew of this attitude. I asked him how he knew Mr. Morgan's position and he replied that he knew it perfectly well."

The following day the telephonic conversation was renewed, Mr. Ledyard said, and the voice asked him whether he represented the steel corporation or Mr. Morgan. When Mr. Ledyard replied that he did not represent either, but thought he held Mr. Morgan's confidence, "he said he was satisfied over this statement. He said it was not until Mr. Morgan's attitude of defiance to the government had become apparent that the money investigation had become the policy of the democratic party.

Perturbed Over Doubt.

"He said the speaker himself was perturbed over the doubt thrown over the situation. He said Edward Lauterbach had seen the speaker and wanted me to see Lauterbach. He told me Lauterbach had the authority of the speaker to come to me. He said the situation concerning steel was very grave, based on the defiance mentioned."

The next day "P" telephoned he would call again from his home in Bethlehem, Pa., said the witness, and would report the result of a conference between himself, Speaker Clark, Senator Stone and Representative Henry. After another conversation on February 4, Mr. Ledyard testified, he decided to call Lauterbach for a consultation, as "P" had told him it had been decided at the conference not to "cut out" Lauterbach, as the new attorney was sure to be a "radical." The witness declared "P" derided the idea of accepting money for his services, saying he was moved by higher motives.

LACEY PUT ON TRIAL ON EMBEZZLING CHARGE

Montgomery, Ala., December 1.—Theodore Lacey, charged with embezzling $2,500, payments by B. Frank, of this city, to the state convict department while the defendant was chief clerk of that department, was placed on trial here this afternoon. Lacey's total alleged embezzlement was over $20,000.

As soon as the case was called, attorneys for Lacey made a motion for a nolle prosse under what they claimed was an agreement between Lacey and counsel for the state by which Lacey was to surrender himself, stand trial on the charge and all other indictments were to be quashed. Judge Brown ruled that such an alleged agreement had not been made in open court, and any settlement under its terms would have to be made by the parties to it. He overruled the motion for a nolle prosse, and also overruled several demurrers filed by the attorneys for Lacey.

When ordered arraigned on the charge of embezzling the $2,500, Lacey pleaded former jeopardy, claiming that the specified amount was part of the total of $50,000 for which he had been previously convicted and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. The plea of former jeopardy was submitted to the jury tomorrow.

The work of securing a jury to try the case was then undertaken. At the hour of adjournment nineteen jurors had been accepted on the panel from which the twelve to try Lacey will be selected tomorrow morning, each juror being qualified separately.

The case against James Oakley, former president of the convict board, was not called. It probably will be taken up after the trial of Lacey is completed.

MORE THAN $40,000,000 ASKED FOR WATERWAYS

Washington, December 1.—Upwards of $40,000,000 for river and harbor improvement is asked of congress in estimates the war department has prepared, of which approximately half is for the Mississippi river and its tributaries.

There are thirty projects in all the department wants favored at the coming session, and they range all the way from $250,000 to $5,000,000 each. The estimates will be cut closely by the house rivers and harbors committee when it meets the last of this week and it is possible the committee will vote to limit the bill to continuation of existing projects.

The estimates were discussed today by Representative Sparkman, of Florida, chairman of the committee, with President Wilson and Colonel Townsend, of the Mississippi river commission.

The largest single item in the department's estimates is $6,000,000 to carry on next year's Mississippi river improvement, which was authorized by congress from the head of the passes to Cape Girardeau.

PRESENT NOT THE TIME FOR PEACE PROPOSALS

Dr. Van Dyke So Reports to Washington—Holland Desires Early End of War.

Washington, December 1.—Dr. Henry Van Dyke, American minister to The Netherlands, back from his post on a month's leave, described to Secretary Bryan today the earnest desire of Queen Wilhelmina and the people of Holland for the early ending of the European war.

Dr. Van Dyke denied the oft-published report that he was the bearer of a personal letter from the queen relating to peace, but said he had reported to Mr. Bryan merely on "the state of mind" of the people of Holland and conditions generally in Europe as he had studied them.

After talking with Secretary Bryan for an hour, Dr. Van Dyke indicated clearly that the present did not seem a propitious moment to put forward definite proposals for terms of peace.

"The desire of the United States for peace," he said, "is shared by all well known fact. The decision as to the proper moment for us to act is in the hands of the president and cabinet and the secretary of state can be trusted to determine when that moment arrives."

Praises Belgians.

The minister expressed the hope that when the time for the settlement of the war arrives the United States "would play a noble part" in the work of peace. He was also sure that the heart of Holland would be with the United States in such efforts, though he would not venture a prediction as to just what form the co-operation of Holland or other neutral countries might take.

Dr. Van Dyke will talk over conditions in Europe with President Wilson tomorrow. He has been asked to be a luncheon at the white house. He came to the United States primarily, he said, to have his eyes treated, and expected to leave Washington tomorrow afternoon on the return trip to Europe December 12.

While at the state department Dr. Van Dyke told the newspaper men of Holland would be with the United States in such efforts, though he would not venture a prediction as to just what form the co-operation of Holland or other neutral countries might take.

Dr. Van Dyke will talk over conditions in Europe with President Wilson tomorrow. He has been asked to be a luncheon at the white house. He came to the United States primarily, he said, to have his eyes treated, and expected to leave Washington tomorrow afternoon on the return trip to Europe December 12.

While at the state department Dr. Van Dyke told the newspaper men of the efforts made by the people of Holland to relieve Belgian refugees.

"The people of Holland," he said, "are a fine-loving folk. They are doing all they can for the relief of those Belgian people who have fled from their homes into Holland in great numbers and we have been striving to give them all the assistance we could. We have organized the Holland-American line, by which the civilian population of Belgium can be helped. Great Britain, France and Germany have approved of what has been done and the work will proceed."

Asked as to reports concerning the neutrality of Holland in the present war, Dr. Van Dyke said there was no doubt that the people of Holland are true to the spirit of Holland were "sincerely neutral and desirous for the return of peace."

American Diplomacy Open.

Incidentally Dr. Van Dyke expressed surprise at reports that American diplomacy was of a secret character.

"I have been told since I returned to this country," he remarked, "that American diplomacy was conducted with the shutters down and the blinds drawn. That has not been my experience and is not the experience of other American diplomats. I find that everything is open and frank and that the impression of the diplomats of other countries is strong to this effect, so that we enjoy the confidence of all our colleagues."

Dr. Van Dyke was the guest tonight at a private dinner at the home of Dr. John W. Foster, former secretary of state, and the latter's son-in-law, Robert Lansing, counsellor of the state department.

U. S. NAVY UNIFORMS ARE BULLET-DRAWING

Washington, December 1.—Another plea for khaki and forestry green uniforms to supplant the bullet-drawing white worn by American seamen was made by Surgeon General Braisted, of the navy, in his annual report, published today by Secretary Daniels. It was pointed out that disadvantageous of white were strikingly illustrated at Vera Cruz, where the sailors offered perfect target for sharpshooters and snipers.

The surgeon general reported that the navy's medical department apparently was prepared to meet all peace time demands, and that the health of the naval personnel was good, showing improvement over last year. An increase in malaria was accounted for by the detention of warships in Mexican waters.

Speaking of gratifying results obtained with typhoid prophylaxis, the surgeon general warned against overconfidence in the protection it affords, explaining that no one knows how long the immunity will last. He said treatment of tuberculosis by the injection of creosote had progressed encouragingly, and that treatment by graded rest and labor had justified expectations.

A continued decrease in alcoholism was noted in the report and credited to Secretary Daniels' order barring liquor from ships and short stations.

MISTAKE OF OFFICER CAUSED SEA HORROR

San Francisco, December 1.—Captain J. J. Carey, master of the steamer Hanalei, wrecked November 21 on Duxbury reef, with a loss of twenty-three lives, was exempted of responsibility for the accident by a coroner's jury today.

Captain Carey laid the loss of life to lack of equipment on Pacific coast life saving stations, declaring every person on the Hanalei could have been saved if life-savers had been supplied with proper rafts and light draft boats. Wreckers tried to shoot life lines to wrecked vessels, he said, were ancient and inadequate.

The jury found that the wreck was due to a mistake made by Second Officer William Rees, who was drowned. Rees, it was declared, changed the Hanalei's course without instructions.

Of the difficulties under which the life-saving crews worked, the verdict says:

"The equipment employed was almost absurd in its inadequacy."

CLEARINGS OF COUNTRY THRO' RESERVE BANKS

Washington, December 1.—The federal reserve board tonight gave the federal reserve bank at Kansas City authority to clear checks by member banks on member banks, and similar authority will be given immediately to the Chicago bank. This is the first step taken toward having reserve banks execute the clearing function provided in the new currency law.

In its telegram to Federal Reserve Agent Miller, at Kansas City, the board called attention to the fact that a meeting of the governors of all reserve banks is to be held here December 8-10, at which clearing of checks will be considered. It is the hope of members of the board that ultimately a large part of the clearings of the country will be done through the reserve banks.

GIRL USHERS OPPOSED IN CHICAGO THEATERS

Chicago, December 1.—Girl ushers in Chicago theaters have encountered the disapproval of the municipal bureau of fire prevention. An ordinance requiring all theaters to employ men ushers went to the council last night at the instance of John C. McDonnell, chief of the bureau.

"Girl ushers are not equal to men in times of emergency, such as fires and panics," said McDonnell. A number of Chicago theaters have employed girl ushers for several years.

WHEAT IS HIGHER ON LIGHT RECEIPTS

Farmers Reported to Be Holding Grain for Higher Prices—Market Closed at 3-8 to 3-4 Up.

Chicago, December 1.—Diminishing of receipts in the southwest helped today to give the upward swing to wheat prices, although gains were not fully held at the finish. The market closed steady at 3-8 @1-2 to 3-4 net advance. Corn wound up the same as last night to 1-8 higher. Oats, provisions, the outcome was 10@1c 1-8 to 3c decline.

Advices said arrivals at Kansas City might be expected to show a remarkable falling off, as farmers were standing out firmly for a decided price upturn. Primary receipts, the shipments from big primary terminals, which in the last few days become about equal to the arrivals. Excessive rains in Argentina made wheat bulls confident almost from the start. Sentiment was against the bears grew rapidly, when it was noised there was free export buying in all directions, including 750,000 bushels for the relief of the starving Belgians.

Early trading with wheat, and as a result of indications that the heavy shipping movement in this city had been checked. Big receipts here, however, depressed the market in the early part of the session.

Oats showed independent strength. There was an active cash demand, mainly for export.

Provisions suffered a break, in consequence of hog receipts here being more plentiful than at any previous time for months.

THINGS ARE RIGHTING THEMSELVES RAPIDLY

The following optimistic extracts are taken from the General Letter on Trade Conditions, issued by the Fulton National bank for the month of December.

"Commercially we have not yet felt to any extent the great change in sentiment which has come about during the month, but the change has been distinctly felt in financial circles. The most potent factor in bringing the improvement was the opening of the federal reserve banks and the release for use in financial operations of hundreds of millions of dollars, of reserve, the amount released in the New York banks alone reaching more than $155,000,000. While it will take a portion of these moneys to retire the clearing house certificates which have been used between banks, the effect of the use of this rediscount privilege by the banks must soon be felt throughout the business world.

"One by one the trade barriers are being removed, and things are righting themselves rapidly, although it is really unfortunate that because of conditions during the past few months many American manufacturers are not now in a position to accept orders which are being offered them by brokers representing the warring nations. Many orders have been declined because of the probable inability of the manufacturers to deliver the goods within the specified time. Present conditions surely prove that 'Preparedness is the secret of success.'

"It is reasonably certain that no legislation will be proposed or at least passed at the regular session of congress which will tend to hinder the return to normal business. The administration stands pledged to favor no legislation which could in any way disturb business."

ANOTHER DULL DAY IN BOND MARKET

Lower Prices Generally Established — Individual Offerings Were Small. Some Loans at 4 Per Cent.

New York, December 1.—Apart from its greater breadth, due to increased offerings, today's market for listed bonds on the stock exchange continued the sluggish movement of the preceding session. The volume of business was larger in the earlier hours, but in the afternoon the speculative issues confronting more than their quota to 30 decline.

Advices said arrivals at Kansas City might be expected to show a remarkable falling off, as farmers were standout firmly for a decided price upturn. Primary receipts, the shipments from big primary terminals, which in the last few days become about equal to the arrivals. Excessive rains in Argentina made wheat bulls confident almost from the start. Sentiment was against the bears grew rapidly, when it was noised there was free export buying in all directions, including 750,000 bushels for the relief of the starving Belgians.

Early trading with wheat, and as a result of indications that the heavy shipping movement in this city had been checked. Big receipts here, however, depressed the market in the early part of the session.

Oats showed independent strength. There was an active cash demand, mainly for export.

Provisions suffered a break, in consequence of hog receipts here being more plentiful than at any previous time for months.

DECEMBER NOTICES SENT COTTON DOWN

Larger Amounts of Consigned Cotton Arriving in New York—Selling Caused Loss in Prices.

New York, December 1.—There was a renewal of December liquidation in cotton here today and prices eased off. The close was steady at a net decline of 1 to 10 points.

Circulation of a few additional December notices appeared largely responsible for the selling of near months. Reports that larger amounts of consigned cotton were arriving here from the south led to predictions of further notices between now and the end of the month. Other winter and spring deliveries also declined, under scattered liquidation. Later deliveries were relatively steady, with some investment buying of October in evidence around the 8 cent level.

The market opened steady at a 1 to 3 point advance, in response to relatively steady cables, but soon turned easier, under selling. There also appeared to be a little selling here from New Orleans and eastern belt points. These offerings were not heavy enough to suggest any material weakening of the spot situation, but the appearance led to talk of slackening spot demand. The market soon eased off, with December selling 9 points and later deliveries about 3 to 7 points net lower. December closed at the lowest point of the day, but later deliveries showed slight rallies on covering.

Arrivals at New York today included 1,059 bales consigned, the largest amount of consigned cotton received here for some months.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands, 7.65; gulf, 7.90; no sales.

Decline in New Orleans.

New Orleans, December 1.—Fluctuations in the price of cotton today were narrow and sluggish. In the morning session, the most active months were 2 points over yesterday's close; in the afternoon they were 4 points under. The close was unchanged to 2 points down, compared with yesterday's close. The market was in a waiting position, neither side caring to increase commitments in view of the annual estimate of the crop by the government on Thursday of next week.

Some weakness developed at spot centers and locally spots lost 1-8 on sales of 2,030 bales. Dallas lost 1-16 and sold 9,437 bales. Bulls expressed the opinion that on any further declines exporters would take hold in a large way.

The day's foreign shipments totalled 25,007 bales, making exports thus far this season 1,346,430 bales. On the other hand, stocks at the principal interior points increased to 639,946 bales, while stocks at all ports amounted to 1,245,257.

A feature of the news of the day was the report that at some southern ports schooners were being chartered, owing to the lack of steamships. It was said they would carry cotton direct to German ports.

Spot cotton barely steady; sales on the spot, 680 bales; to arrive, 1,350; good ordinary, 5 13-16; strict good ordinary, 6 5-16; low middling, 6-15-16; strict low middling, 7 1-16; middling, 7 5-16; strict middling, 7 9-16; good middling, 7 15-16; strict good middling, 8 5-16; receipts, 9,567; stock, 240,054.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, December 1.—Cotton seed oil was weak, closing 14 to 21 points net lower. The decline was the result of freer and cheaper offerings of crude oil from Texas, scattered liquidation by longs and with the break in lard. Sales 13,600 barrels. No tenders have been put out on December contracts thus far. Prime crude 4.80@4.93; prime summer yellow, spot, 5.70; prime winter yellow 5.90; prime summer white 5.85. Futures ranged as follows:

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

That the expected revival of business in the real estate market is on the way is indicated by the unusually large number of deals announced on Tuesday, as follows:

Realty Sales.

Forrest & George Adair sold for Mrs. Bessie T. Donaldson and Charles and Emory Quarles to Realty Investments the northwest corner of Edgewood avenue and Bell street, a vacant lot fronting 84 feet on Edgewood avenue and 130 feet on Bell, for a consideration of $27,000, or $321 per front foot. The sellers took in part payment twelve lots on Allene avenue, property of the Atlanta Real Estate company, valued at $9,600, and a parcel fronting 82 feet on Bell street just south of Edgewood avenue, valued at $6,000, the latter being the property of Realty Investments.

Dr. J. M. Crawford has sold to Philip Weltner, J. J. and J. L. McLendon, Dr. E. G. Ballenger and M. B. Yates, one-fourth and one-eighth interests in a tract of about 150 acres on Pace's Ferry road, at Nancy's creek, for $28,714.84.

Smith & Ewing sold for the Coles Investment company to the Ewing Realty company the southeast corner of Markham and Mangum streets, a two-story brick building, under lease to the Westinghouse Electric company, on a lot 76 1-2x100, for $17,500.

Smith & Ewing also sold for H. O. Reese to C. G. Harris, trustee, the northeast corner of Merritts avenue and Woodrow place, eleven renting houses on a lot 225x200, for $17,000.

Smith & Ewing also sold for the Ewing Realty company to a client five lots on Hill, Sidney and Kelly streets, in the Grant property subdivision, for $5,900.

Roff Sims & Co. have sold for various members of the purchasing company of the Pryor Terminal company, various tracts on the Southern railway, for an aggregate consideration of $74,000 the papers having gone to record on Tuesday. These sales have been made in the last year and a half, but were not before announced. The company plans an industrial subdivision.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON THE COTTON MARKET

New York, December 1.—(Special.)—While Liverpool was somewhat lower this morning, there was an improved demand for spots in that market, with sales of 8,000 bales. Prices here were somewhat easier, with scattered liquidation in December, in which month the outstanding interest is now very much reduced. The market again met investment buying at 8 cents and below for October, which, in the absence of any southern pressure, was sufficient to sustain prices. In the afternoon a Chicago house published an estimate of the winter wheat acreage, showing an increase in the cotton states of 2,500,000 acres in winter wheat. This report attracted some attention, as calling attention again to the probability of a radical reduction in the cotton acreage next spring. It is very natural that the trade should be inclined to look for an opportunity to buy on a somewhat cheaper basis, in view of the known conditions, but it is well to remember that as cotton is selling at low prices and below the cost of production, each decline will meet an increased demand, both from outside investors and from domestic consumers who are not as yet stocked up as they would have been in normal times.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, December 1.—(Special.)—The market today was entirely without feature, business having dropped to very small proportions. Under the circumstances, miscellaneous selling caused a moderate recession in prices, especially as there was nothing to stimulate interest in buying in any volume. At present news of real consequence to the market is lacking, except in so far as a surplus supply of cotton is plainly indicated.

IN THE CONSTITUTION. COST OF LOCAL WANT ADS

1 Insertion 10c a line
3 Insertions 6c a line
7 Insertions 5c a line

1c per word flat for classified advertising from outside of Atlanta.

No advertisement accepted for less than two lines. Count six ordinary words to each line.

Discontinuance of advertising must be in writing. It will not be accepted by phone. This protects your interests as well as ours.

If you can't bring or send your Want Ad, phone Main 5000, or Atlanta 5001.

Courteous operators, thoroughly familiar with rates, rules and classifications, will give you complete information. And, if you wish, they will assist you in wording your want ad to make it most effective.

Accounts opened for ads by telephone to accommodate you if your name is in the telephone directory. Other want ads taken by telephone are to be paid for immediately upon publication, bill to be presented by mail or solicitor the same day printed.

EVERY HOME HAS USE FOR CONSTITUTION WANT ADS.
